COST OF STRIKE GROWS IMMENSE.

PLANTS GAINING GROUND.

Big Increase Shown in the Number of Men Employed and of Animals That Are Slaughtered.

The labor struggle involving Chicago's greatest industry—that centering in the meat packing plants at the stockyards—today enters on its sixth week. The strike was called at 11 o'clock Tuesday, July 12. Since that hour the proprietors have tried to operate their establishments with new workers and without the union crews that had become familiar, through long practice, with the tasks to be done.

A statistical comparison shows the effects of the strike. The strikers have lost, each week, $315,000 in wages, making a total of $1,890,000 thus sacrificed. What the losses of the packers have been is problematical. That they have been immense is admitted, but no estimates have been furnished by those in position to tell.

Effect on Live Stock Market.

The effect on the Chicago live stock market has been great. During the first weeks of the struggle the receipts were so small that the city became one of the smaller centers instead of the chief market of the world. The big packers, who had bought the most and the best consignments, were practically out of the market. As the struggle dragged along, however, they began to gather working forces large enough to run their plants on a considerable scale.

A marked improvement was noted early in August. The following table shows the live stock receipts two weeks ago yesterday and for the corresponding day last year::

	Corresponding day 1903.	Two weeks ago.	Yesterday.	Aug. 1 to 22, 1904.	Aug. 1 to 22, 1903.
Cattle	22,000	19,000	30,000	187,646	208,353
Hogs	26,000	26,000	36,000	356,464	386,104
Sheep	45,000	17,000	20,000	267,604	281,657

Output of the Plants.

Not all the cattle, sheep, and hogs unloaded in the Chicago pens were slaughtered in this city. Under ordinary conditions a considerable part of the local consignments is sent to other cities to be killed in plants there. The strike was responsible for a large increase in these out of town shipments. Hence the volume of receipts of stock in the Chicago yards did not reflect the trade conditions in the large plants.

The following table indicates approximately the stock slaughtered in the establishments controlled by the five large companies that dominate the Chicago stockyards for the week ended yesterday and corresponding periods:

	1903.	2 weeks ago.	Last week.
Cattle	46,000	14,000	29,000
Hogs	80,000	55,000	75,000
Sheep	82,000	35,000	50,000
CARS SHIPPED FOR SAME PERIODS.
	3,700	2,000	3,000
MEN EMPLOYED.
	26,000	11,000	18,000

Big Gain for Packers.

These figures show the advance made by the packers in the last two weeks. They have gained in the number of men employed, in the number of animals slaughtered, and in the shipments to outside cities.

From the first the employers found the least difficulty in securing men to run their hog slaughtering departments. Less skill was required to kill and cut up hogs than cattle and sheep, and the packers centered their energies on efforts to bring the department up to normal. Two weeks ago they were fairly successful and yesterday they declared they had no more to ask.

Western Plants Kill Cattle.

The most skilled butchers were required in the cattle slaughtering department. Another fact led the employers to go slow with this part of their plants. Each of the big Chicago houses has branches in western cities. These distant plants, not so seriously affected by the strike, were able to handle cattle enough to keep the companies running without the necessity of putting excessive pressure on the Chicago establishments.

Fort Worth, Tex., was especially relied on by two of the companies. The plants in that city kill practically no animals but cattle. They were and are now run overtime, and they make up any deficiency arising from the short output of the Chicago plants.

New Men Work More Hours.

The volume of output, the packers say, is not wholly dependent on the number of men on the pay rolls. Last year there were many workers in the employ of the companies who put in little more than half time each week. Now all the employés work full time. The owners of the plants say that the actual number of hours' work a week of the present force is not much less than the number of hours of work a week of the former larger crews.

Consumers of meat have felt the effects of the strike in the advanced prices charged. The dealers have raised their figures in accordance with the credulity of their patrons, the packers declare. The marketmen, however, say they have been forced to pay more for their goods.

Price of Meats.

The big packing companies, their managers maintain, have not materially raised prices since the beginning of the strike. An advance was made when the struggle was a few days old. This, it is asserted, has not been continued. The sympathetic strike of the teamsters cut the big companies off from the city trade and threw it to the independent concerns. The packers quote figures to prove that these smaller companies have taken advantage of their increased trade and have charged greatly augmented prices.

While there has been much complaint from the live stock producers, the statistics indicate that they have suffered little in the stockyards market. Prices have remained fairly steady, although there were some days early in the struggle when large receipts caused disastrous slumps. The loss of the farmer has been chiefly at home. He has been obliged to hold back and feed cattle, hogs, and sheep already fattened for the market.

Prices of Live Stock.

The following table shows the range of prices in the stockyards market for the bulk of the sales:

	1903.	Two weeks ago.	Yesterday.
Cattle	$4.65-$5.40	$4.65-$6.00	$4.70-$5.75
Hogs	5.25- 6.05	5.05- 5.62	4.90- 5.45
Sheep, top	3.70	4.00	4.00

SECRET TRIP FOR MARITAL TRUCE.

L. A. Phipps of Pittsburg and His Wife in Chicago to Agree to Disagree and Separate.

MAY PAY HER MILLIONS.

Conference Is Held as to Disposal of Children with Whom the Father Fled from the East.

Accompanied by lawyers and friends, L. A. Phipps of Pittsburg and his wife, from whom he has been separated several months, met in Chicago yesterday to reach an agreement in their matrimonial difficulties. Their purpose, it is stated, was not to patch up a family truce, but to determine just how many millions stood between them and a peaceful separation, including some agreement under which both could see their children.

Recalls Sensational Kidnaping.

It was these children which caused the sensational act recently of Mr. Phipps when he took them from his wife in New York City and fled with all haste to Denver, where they now are.

Both Mr. Phipps and his wife arrived in Chicago in as much state as secrecy, but particular stress was laid by both on secrecy. The husband came from Denver and his wife from Pittsburg. It was contended by Phipps and his attorneys that many good moves toward an amicable settlement had been blocked by publicity.

"This is a matter of too much importance to be made the subject of popular comment any longer," was one statement made in a letter that traveled from Denver to Pittsburg.

Mrs. Phipps Avoids Publicity.

Mrs. Phipps instructed her attorneys to say that she was not looking for publicity. She was grieved, Mr. Phipps' attorneys were informed, that so much had become known of the divorce proceedings in Denver.

It was agreed that Chicago was a good place for a secret conference, and also possessed an additional advantage by reason of its central location. To avoid detection, Mrs. Phipps and her lawyers left the Pennsylvania train in which they had come from the east at the Englewood station in the morning.

Seeks Secrecy in a Cab.

Flanked by two attorneys, carrying suit cases, followed by a maid with a satchel, and further shielded from the gaze of the Englewood public by a black veil, which extended almost to her shoulders, Mrs. Phipps hurried to a cab that was waiting for her just at the exit of the station. Then the party was driven toward State street, and the vehicle disappeared around a corner.

Mr. Phipps, it was said last night, was awaiting his wife when she arrived at the meeting place. He was attended also by two attorneys, who had journeyed with him from Denver in a private car, reaching Chicago at 10 o'clock.

Reconciliation Is Not Sought.

The conference, which lasted several hours, is said to have been a "business affair pure and simple," no thought being given to the possibility of a reconciliation by either of the principals.

The question at issue, over which there was some debate, and in which Mrs. Phipps is said to have taken as much of a part as her attorneys, was said to be the amount, in a "lump" sum, that Mr. Phipps was to pay, providing his suit for divorce, filed recently in Denver, was not contested.

How the debate was concluded could not be learned authoritatively last night, although it was intimated that Mr. Phipps had shown a disposition to "listen to reason" and accede to his wife's demands, made immediately following their separation.

Wife May Get $5,000,000.

The demands are said to have been a payment of $5,000,000 in cash and the custody of the Phipps children one-half of each year.

As counsel in chief for Mrs. Phipps while in Chicago, United States Attorney James S. Young of Pittsburg also is said in a dispatch received last night from the Pennsylvania city to have arranged for her "secret" departure from there by inducing the Pennsylvania railroad to stop one of its fastest trains for her at a suburban station.

According to the dispatch from Pittsburg Mrs. Phipps entertained friends at dinner Sunday evening and chatted freely of her separation from her husband. Shortly before 9 o'clock she excused herself and left the house with her maid. Fifteen minutes later a closed carriage drove to the Sunnyside station of the Pennsylvania railway and almost immediately afterward the fast New York and Chicago limited train came to a standstill. The carriage door was flung open and two women and two men ran up into the vestibuled train and were whirled away.

Course Is Unprecedented.

The Pennsylvania railroad had done a thing unprecedented in stopping its fastest train at a suburban station. Mrs. Phipps and her maid were locked in her stateroom as the train arrived in Pittsburg, and Attorney Young was in another stateroom, where he remained concealed until after the departure. It was not until yesterday morning that the news of Mrs. Phipps' going and the method became public in Pittsburg.

MAY ELECT PRESIDENT JAMES.

Head of Northwestern Is Expected to Be Chosen for the University of Illinois.

It is expected that Edmund James, president of Northwestern university, tomorrow will be elected president of the University of Illinois.

The board of trustees of the University of Illinois will meet at Champaign to name a successor to Dr. A. S. Draper, and it is believed that Dr. James will be the unanimous choice of the members of the board.

An informal ballot was taken a week ago, and Dr. James received a majority.

WEDDING TRIP ON A FREIGHT.

Newly Married Couple Making Journey from New York to Maine in Ordinary Caboose.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Preferring to travel on their wedding trip on freight trains instead of in Pullman cars, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arkwright of western New York passed through here last night on one of the through freight trains en route for Maine. They have traveled the entire distance since they left home in the caboose of a freight.

CUT THIS OUT TODAY

and mail it to some voting friend of yours who lives in Illinois outside of Cook county.

August ...., 1904.

Dear Sir:

Possibly you have wondered why Chicago is making such earnest and systematic efforts to interest the Illinois voters who live outside of Cook county in the new charter amendment. The reason is this: The amendment cannot possibly be passed without the help of the country.

At the next election Cook county will cast somewhere in the neighborhood of 35 per cent of all the votes of Illinois. But the charter amendment, to succeed, will require over 50 per cent of all votes cast at the coming election. For a constitutional amendment to pass requires a majority, NOT of all votes cast on the amendment proposition, but of all votes cast at the election. A ballot unmarked on the charter amendment will be counted exactly the same as a ballot marked outright against the amendment.

Even, therefore, if Cook county voted unanimously in favor of the Chicago amendment the proposition would still lack 15 per cent, or about 180,000 votes, of the requisite number to carry.

Chicago must get those 180,000 votes in the country or not at all. Because some Chicagoans will neglect to vote on the amendment the city is asking the country for a 180,000 charter majority--and then some.

It is plain therefore that only by the country's active support can the charter amendment be passed and a great benefit conferred not merely directly upon the city but also indirectly on the whole state of Illinois.

Yours very truly,

....

BIRD CENTER ACTED.

Tribune's M'Cutcheon Cartoons Make Hit on Stage.

ALL OLD FRIENDS ARE SEEN.

First Presentation at Peoria Surpasses All Expectations.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Capt. Roscoe Fry has lost a little of his garrulity and is not reminded of the battle of Gettysburg by more than half of the occurrences in Bird Center. Cyrus Hornbeck is more than the crusty unemotional purse bound country banker. He has developed criminal instincts. The Mysterious Stranger has lost no mystery, but he has gained much sartorial and delsartean polish.

Mrs. Riley Withersby has gained some youthfulness and a bit of mature coquetry, the trousers of J. Milton Brown, proprietor of the Bird Center studio, still have that reckless dislike for his shoetops and still strive vigorously to crawl higher and higher up his knee. He and Mrs. Brown still live only for art and still make the tintypes of the village. Riley Peters still fascinates the village and visiting beauty until dashing and fat Gus Figgey of Chicago comes upon the scene and puts Riley's nose out of joint.

With these slight changes and many resemblances, the Bird Center characters of John T. McCutcheon's TRIBUNE cartoons stepped out of their black and white poses and became stage people tonight.

Audience Shows Its Pleasure.

The first presentation of Glen MacDonough's comedy based on the cartoons familiar to every reader of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE was given in the Grand opera house here in Peoria tonight under the stage direction of Julian Mitchell. That the comedy went at once to the sympathies of a large audience and caught them with its humor and pathos is due partly to the art of the cartoonist in creating the characters, partly to the skill of the company representing them, partly to the cleverness of the playwright in utilizing them, and, lastly, to the manner in which Hamlin, Mitchell, and Fields have staged them.

Julian Mitchell has worked his company with long hours and short rests here since Saturday. This afternoon he could not have hoped for much more than a dress rehearsal tonight for the first production. He secured a finished, and from the audience viewpoint, an almost flawless one. He probably saw crudeness, but the audience did not. At 4 o'clock he was scolding because of forgotten lines. At 10 o'clock the company was working as if with a well established play.

Atmosphere Is Preserved.

The cartoons have been preserved in all essential features. Mr. MacDonough has made them speak, and has given them things to do. They step on the stage in the garb in which the cartoonist has made them famous, and the scenes through which they move are consistent with the atmosphere of Bird Center as plotted and laid out by Mr. McCutcheon.

The story of the comedy has been told in part in THE TRIBUNE. Capt. Fry and his fortunes form the pivot.

Kate Fry, his daughter, cashier in Hornbeck's bank, in her haste to reach the wedding festivities at the marriage of Mrs. Withersby's daughter, overpays a patron of the bank. Hornbeck discovers that the patron has two $500 bills instead of one, which he supposed he had drawn. He wants to marry Mrs. Withersby for her money. He suspects the guileless Capt. Fry of the same intention. They quarrel and the banker determines to ruin the veteran. The overpayment gives him the opportunity. The honesty of Kate is challenged and the banker with the missing bill in his wallet throws the scandal open. Fry's only means of making good the loss is by selling his valueless household furniture at auction. The development of the plot has been carried through two acts.

Where Scenes Are Laid.

One is at Mrs. Withersby's home and one in the tintype galleries of Brown. The Mysterious Stranger has been alarming Bird Center to the verge of spasms with his sinister politeness and unspeakable reserve. The auction comes in the third act. The money cannot be raised in this way. Even the piano, "the best 'piano forty' to be bought in Decatur in the '70s," brings only $10. Hornbeck is exulting over the plight of his enemy when he is approached by the stranger, who startles him immeasurably—and the audience also—by speaking for the first time. He is equipped with credentials and a request for the cashing of a draft for $500.

Hornbeck has discovered that one of his $500 notes is counterfeit. He cashes the draft with it. The stranger buys Capt. Fry's sword with the $500. His identity, when revealed, discovers him to be a confederate captain whose life Fry had saved at Gettysburg. His gratitude has brought him to Bird Center, and it saves the union veteran from ruin.

The $500 makes good the overpayment, and the counterfeit bill is back in Hornbeck's possession. His guilt in passing it when he knew it worthless is discovered and he is placed in the hands of the law.

Meanwhile Mr. Gus Figgey has been in the plot looking for the old wreck of the River Belle, which was sunk laden with brandy. The river channel has shifted since the war. Capt. Fry sinks a new well. He taps that cargo of brandy, and the artistic and social lights of Bird Center assembled in his backyard drink of the water and general inebriety follows. Thus Figgey discovers the River Belle. The cargo, valuable before the war, is doubly so now, and Fry is placed beyond want for the remainder of his days.

Comedy Ends Happily.

The comedy ends in marriages. Mr. MacDonough has given prominence to two of the children which filled Mr. McCutcheon's pictures and has achieved two juveniles who delighted the audience tonight. Sheridan Grant Greene and Florence Nightingale Greene, the children of Smiley Greene, in the hands of Will Archie and Ipha Dahl, appealed to the Peoria audience as irresistible.

Comment on the work of the company can be made with more fairness when the Chicago opening comes next Sunday night. The members could afford to be judged by what they did tonight, but five more performances under Mr. Mitchell will bring the polish.

Producers of Play Pleased.

Lew Fields sat in a box tonight and grinned contentedly, although he still cherishes a secret desire to have played J. Milton Brown, the tintype "artist." Fields' liking for the character is said to have been one cause for the production. Fred and Harry Hamlin are pleased with the results, and even Mr. Mitchell is concealing considerable pride just above his white stock tie, which has gone through a trying day.

He has added a touch of feminine beauty to the coloring of Bird Center. He has "bunched" the various young women who visit the town, and thus Riley Peters is a whirligig in a mob of distraction instead of being the admirer of each fair visitor in succession. He has contrived a rain storm of surprising wetness, and his tintype studio is a marvel, even in Bird Center.

SEEKS SECLUSION OF WOODS TO PRACTICE ON PIANO.

Young Woman of Peoria Takes Instrument Into Forest to Find Inspiration from Nature.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Beneath the sheltering boughs of a large oak tree in a forest a mile and a half from human habitation, Miss Claude Elydia Burkhalter practices daily on a grand piano. In an improvised cottage beneath the same tree the young woman lives, fully apart from intruding strangers who might disturb her.

Miss Burkhalter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Burkhalter and is recognized as one of the most accomplished musicians in Peoria. She is a teacher in the Peoria conservatory of music and her work this summer, she says, is to better fit her for her coming duties this winter.

YOUNG WOMAN IS MADE ILL BY BOY'S PRACTICAL JOKE.

Skeleton in Attic at Glencoe Is Animated by Wires, and Miss Henry Is Driven Into Convulsions.

When Miss Marie Henry, residing near Glencoe, on Sunday saw a human skeleton apparently jumping around in the attic of her dwelling, she was seized with convulsions, and her condition now is critical.

At first it was feared the young woman might permanently lose her mind.

The skeleton is the property of Miss Henry's brother, a medical student, and long had hung in the attic. It was animated by means of hidden wires by Henry and several of his friends. It was a "practical joke."

SANTA FE TRAIN IS WRECKED.

Five Passenger Cars Derailed Near Topeka and Physicians Are Sent to the Scene.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 22.—Santa Fé passenger train No. 17 was derailed at Tecumseh, six miles east of here, some time after midnight, five cars being thrown off the track. A relief train is preparing to leave this city. A number were injured, but no definite figures are given in the report reaching this city. Physicians will accompany the relief train.

FOREST FIRES BURN WHISKERS.

Fugitives on Train Pass Through Flames and Have Narrow Escape from Death.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 22.—A wild ride through the blazing forests from the Hastings Sawmill company, near Sliaman, cost every man on the train his whiskers and many of them lost their hair and clothes. They ran a race with death, and their escape was marvelous.

KILL, AND BURN BODY

Two Thousand Persons Destroy Negro at Cedartown, Ga.

IDENTIFIED AND CONFESSES.

Mob Waits Only for Admission of Guilt to Shoot Prisoner.

Cedartown, Ga., Aug. 22. — Jim Glover, a negro, was shot to death tonight, near the home of a white girl whom he had attacked. Then his body was dragged into this city and burned on the public square. The mob was estimated at nearly 2,000 persons.

Glover's victim was Levia Reeves, the 13 year old daughter of a well known farmer, who had protected the negro from the attack of a large dog owned by her father early this morning.

Bloodhounds Find Fugitive.

Bloodhounds were put on Glover's track and he was captured some distance away late this afternoon and carried to the home of the girl, who identified him.

In the meantime the mob had gathered, and as soon as it was learned that the child had positively identified the man preparations for his punishment were set in motion.

The negro confessed his guilt, and immediately the crowd took him away from the posse which had captured him, tied him to a tree and riddled his body with bullets.

Crowd Swells to Two Thousand.

The crowd continued to gather, and when the march back to town with the dead body began it appeared as if fully 1,000 persons had joined the procession. By the time the crowd reached Cedartown several hundred more persons had been added to the crowd. About 2,000 persons witnessed the burning as best they could in the bright moonlight on the most conspicuous place on Main street.

Big Reward for Lynchers.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Gov. Cunningham this afternoon offered rewards amounting to $1,050, the largest ever offered in Alabama, for the arrest and conviction of the lynchers of Ed Avery of Walker, Rufus Leseure of Maringo, and Will Robertson of Pickens.

FINDS BROTHER FOR WHOSE MURDER HE WAS ARRAIGNED.

Edward S. Van Lieu, Who Went West After His Trial in New York, Accosted by Missing Man in Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 22.—Two brothers, one of whom had been tried on the charge of murdering the other, met unexpectedly at a hotel in this city today. They are Edward S. Van Lieu of this city and Cornelius S. Van Lieu of Pasadena, Cal.

Twenty years ago the brothers had quarreled in a tavern in Oneida county, N. Y. After the quarrel Edward returned to his home in Vernon Center, resolved never to recognize his brother again. Cornelius made a like resolution, and determined to go west and forget. He left without seeing any of the members of his family.

The next day a search began. Edward was afterward tried in the courts of Oneida county and the jury disagreed. A second trial followed and he was discharged.

Five years ago Edward came west. Today he went to a local hotel to meet a friend on business. While there a stranger accosted him with the question:

"Is this Eddie Van Lieu?"

"It is," was the reply.

Inside of five minutes a dispatch was sent to the aged mother in Oneida county, N. Y., and another to the Oneida county authorities informing them of a happy reunion.

BRIGAND BAND IN MEXICO HOLDS BANKER FOR RANSOM.

John Eiland of Portales, N. M., Writes His Wife That He May Be Killed if Large Sum Is Not Paid.

Roswell, N. M., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—John Eiland, vice president of the Bank of Portales, N. M., is now in the hands of brigands in old Mexico. Mrs. Eiland has received a letter from him, dated Oputo, saying unless arrangements are made at once to pay a heavy ransom he will be tortured or killed. The amount of ransom is not made public. Mrs. Eiland wired the United States consul at the City of Mexico to take up the case. John Eiland is one of the oldest settlers here. In early days he ran a store at Fort Stanton, and his sheep formerly pastured where the town of Portales now is built. He is one of the wealthiest men in Roosevelt county, and was in old Mexico dealing in sheep.

RUSSIAN GUNS AT PORT ARTHUR SILENCE JAPS?

Mikado's Artillery Reported to Be Out of Action After Seven Hours' Bombardment on Monday.

BATTLE DAY AND NIGHT.

Japanese Lives by Thousands Declared to Be Sacrificed in Effort to Capture the Stronghold.

BULLETIN.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 22.—A dispatch from Chefoo, dated Aug. 22, says that according to Chinese reports the Japanese yesterday bombarded Port Arthur from 6 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, pouring in a heavy fire, but that the Russians succeeded in silencing the Japanese batteries. The Japanese fleet was not engaged, having put further out to sea.

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, Aug. 22.—Last night the Russian ships came out of the harbor at Port Arthur and passed the night below the Liautishan peninsula. Evidently the Japanese bombardment made their position in the harbor uncomfortable.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 23, 3 a. m.—According to the Moscow correspondent of the Morning Post Lieut. Gen. Stoessel concluded a telegram to an intimate friend there with the words:

"Farewell forever. Port Arthur will be my tomb."

VAGUE REPORTS OF BATTLE.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 23, 3 a. m.—There is no reliable news from any source of what is happening at Port Arthur. Chefoo continues to report severe fighting, with varying success, but the statements are commonplace and unconvincing, and have no better basis than the say so of nameless Chinese refugees, probably coolies.

One report specifies a bombardment from 6 o'clock in the morning until 1 in the afternoon on Sunday. The missiles poured in continuously, but the Russians ultimately silenced the Japanese batteries. The Japanese fleet at sea, therefore, was not engaged in the bombardment.

The assertion that Saturday's attack on the fortress signalized the beginning of a general assault is denied by the Berlin Tageliche Rundschau, which learns from a semiofficial Japanese source that it merely was one of a series of attacks for the purpose of gaining positions for Japanese siege guns, a majority of which have not yet come into action. The attack resulted with success in the center, but the advances on the flanks were merely feints.

TELLS OF FURIOUS BATTLES.

"With each additional report from Port Arthur wonder increases both at the persistence of the Japanese attack and the heroic stubbornness of the defenders of the fortress. The Japanese are literally throwing away thousands of lives in the hope of shaking the courage of the Russian troops.

"Maj. Gen. Fock says he is confident the fortress cannot be taken, but if it is taken the whole Japanese army will have to immolate itself on the slopes of the fortifications.

Five Desperate Assaults.

"There were five desperate assaults on Green hills July 26, the Japanese returning each time with apparently inexhaustible reinforcements. On the final assault, however, the Japanese broke badly, throwing away their guns, cartridge belts, and even their boots to facilitate their flight, and leaving 7,000 dead or wounded.

"Our surgeons worked heroically, impartially aiding Japanese and Russians. The Japanese were so touched that they tearfully thanked the Russian suergeons.

"The assault on Green hills was repeated July 27, and there were frequent hand to hand encounters, the Russians leaving the trenches to follow their enemies.

"The assaults of July 28 and 29 on the Wolf hills were not followed up, the Japanese being too severely shaken.

"We evacuated the Wolf hills chiefly for strategic reasons, as the hills made the line of defenses too long to effectually withstand the furious attacks of the Japanese.

60,000 Against 13,000.

"The assault of July 30 was made in the dark of night, in the hope of surprising the Russians. Sixty thousand men were hurled against our 13,000, but we drove them back again and again at the point of the bayonet. It was another Shipka pass.

"The Japanese poured in fresh battalions, and the slopes, covered with the dead and the dying, literally ran with blood.

"Our Thirteenth regiment was forced from its position, but the Fourteenth regiment came up and, with the bayonet, again dislodged the victors.

"As near as can be ascertained, this assault cost the Japanese 10,000 men.

Japs Lose 28,000 Men.

"The Japanese losses since the siege began have been 28,000 men. The explosion of one mine wiped out 500. This was an awful sight. A volcano of stones dismembered the bodies of the soldiers, while the sky was lit up with a purple glare and the mud walls of the Chinese village were thrown down by the shock. After this fight Gen. Stoessel collected 20,000 Japanese rifles."

Japs Mount Twenty Siege Guns.

"The Japanese installed twenty siege guns on the Wolf hills on Aug. 8. Four of these are 12 inch guns. They have not yet reached our shore batteries, which are still out of range, but they have damaged the drydock and the railway station.

"The Japanese are mapping the town by sections for the purpose of bombardment and they are assisted in this task by a Chinese engineer, who recently deserted to them.

"The Japanese fire an average of 800 shells daily and they keep up their fire both day and night."

BATTLE IS CONTINUOUS.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 22.—The bombardment of Port Arthur proceeds continuously day and night. The losses on both sides are serious. This is the résumé of the latest news from the besieged stronghold. In view of the fact that the Japanese have sent large detachments from the north to reinforce the army engaged in the assault on Port Arthur, General Kouropatkin, who now has 140,000 men at his disposal, will take the earliest opportunity of engaging the Japanese. In case he is unsuccessful all the necessary preparations will be made for a retreat to Harbin. If victorious he will forthwith proceed to the relief of Port Arthur, which it is believed, can resist for two months longer.

PRAISE FOR STOESSEL.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 22.—The storming of Port Arthur, which the foreign dispatches say is progressing, is riveting all attention. The stubborn resistance which Gen. Stoessel is making is evoking high praise, and the war office and public are hoping almost against hope that he will be able to hold out in spite of the heavy odds against him.

The latest news, that the Japanese are unable to establish a foothold at Louisa bay and at the most westerly fort of the inner defenses, is considered encouraging.

Losses to the Fleet.

An official dispatch from Rear Admiral Prince Ouktomsky at Port Arthur, by way of Chefoo, says that only two officers were killed on board the ships which returned to the harbor after the fight of Aug. 10, but his information about the condition of the ships is unsatisfactory, the admiralty explaining that he probably avoided going into specific details owing to fear that the dispatch might fall into the hands of the Japanese.

BATTLE IS CONTINUOUS.

CHEFOO, Aug. 22.—The Chinese just arrived, who bring the latest information from Port Arthur, were employed by the Russian authorities carrying the dead off the field, and also ammunition, which, they say, is plentiful, report that the Japanese main attack has been the heaviest against the Russian center and right, particularly against the center, fronting which the Japanese have taken up a strong position at Shushiyen.

Chinese who left Port Arthur yesterday and arrived here today state that the Japanese, by making desperate charges, which were reinforced by an artillery fire from Shushiyen and Louisa bay, swept from the north into Pigeon bay territory and drove the Russians back from the main forts.

Capture Ground, Lose It.

The ground being comparatively flat in this vicinity the Japanese were unable to hold it in the face of the Russian artillery fire, and they retired north an eighth of a mile beyond the scene of fire.

The Chinese declare that the Japanese captured one important fort located on the Itzshan hills, midway between the western coast and the railway on a line drawn approximately from a point midway between Pigeon and Louisa bays.

Bombarded Forty-eight Hours.

The fighting resulting in the capture of this fort was severe. The position was first subjected to a bombardment for over forty-eight hours. Then the Japanese infantry assulted it and compelled the Russians to retire. The Russian artillery then directed a heavy fire on the spot, compelling the Japanese in turn to retire.

Battle Near Pigeon Bay.

Pigeon bay had been the scene of fighting several days before the final assault had begun, the Japanese never being able to hold for long any territory they might gain. Their attacks were made mostly at night, during foggy days and misty mornings.

The Japanese believe that their superior physical condition will win the battle for them by wearing out the Russian garrison, which is constituted of less hardened material, down to the point of exhaustion by the persistency of their attack and their refusal to accept a repulse.

Russians Fight Doggedly.

The temperament of the Russian garrison is dogged and determined.

Gen. Stoessel, who is heavy, rides ceaselessly his chargers, which are showing the strain upon them, although the general changes his mounts frequently.

Both officers and soldiers have grown indifferent to the shells which enter the town frequently. Recently the Chinese theater was hit and a score of people were killed and wounded. One shell exploded in the corral of the Chinese who tell the story, killing five donkeys.

Many Officers Killed.

Civilians are allowed to leave the bombproofs during the lulls in artillery fire, but these intermissions are rare, and everybody is worn and anxious over the situation. An unusually large proportion of young company officers has been killed, which is partially owing to their duties and to their reckless daring.

While the Russians apparently believe they will hold the Japanese in check, their confidence in their successful resistance is not absolute.

The Japanese have guns mounted on nearly all the hills which formerly formed Russian outposts. The Japanese fire is accurate.

Hospitals Full of Wounded.

The hospitals and Chinese houses at Port Arthur are full of Russian wounded. The narrators say the dead until ready for burial are stored in warehouses and are then buried on the outskirts of the town, quicklime being used freely to prevent infection.

Three large ships and two gunboats are being repaired in the dockyard and basin, the other ships being behind the shelter of the Tiger's Tail peninsula.

The junks now depart from Liaotie lighthouse. That point has been hit by a shell.

Japs Get 30,000 Reinforcements.

It is asserted in reliable quarters at Port Arthur that the Japanese have received reinforcements of 30,000 men from the north.

The steamer Victoria, which arrived here this evening from Newchwang, reports hearing spasmodically heavy firing at Louisa and Pigeon bays, respectively northwest and west of Port Arthur, between 10 o'clock last night and 1 in the morning. The steamer saw searchlights playing freely and skyrockets signaling at 1 o'clock this morning. The ship was too far away to see or hear anything further.

JAPS BOMBARD RUSSIAN PORT.

Cruisers Shell Town of Korsakovsk, Island of Sakhalien, and Demolish Five Government Buildings.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 22.—The Japanese cruisers that sank the Russian cruiser Novik at Korsakovsk, island of Sakhalien, Sunday morning, afterwards bombarded the town of Korsakovsk itself.

Five government buildings and eleven houses were demolished. The official report received by the emperor today, dated yesterday, says:

"Since 7 o'clock this morning the enemy has bombarded Korsakovsk. The government houses have been destroyed. One of the enemy's ships appeared on the horizon at about 6 in the morning, approached to within about five and one-quarter miles of the shore, and bombarded the town until 8:15, when the vessel turned and disappeared. There were no casualties."

The official reports of the destruction of the Novik say that the cruiser was in the harbor of Korsakovsk on sighting the two Japanese ships and steamed out to meet them. Finding itself unable to sustain the unequal combat the Novik ran back to the harbor and was beached. Full details of the casualties are not ascertainable, except that one officer was killed.

CONSULS REFUSE TO HELP CHINA.

Crisis at Shanghai Still Acute, but Powers Decline to Act.

JAPAN EAGER FOR FORCE

United States Refuses to Protect the Russian Warships at Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—China must compel Russia to respect the neutrality of the port of Shanghai and not shirk her responsibility by shifting the matter to the foreign consuls.

The work of repairing the Russian cruisers now here must cease for forty-eight hours, pending a decision from Pekin.

The foreign consuls spent the entire day in anxious discussion. The meeting was presided over by John Goodnow, the American consul general, who is dean of the consular corps.

All foreign countries with consulates here were represented.

M. Odagiri, the Japanese consul, and M. Kleinmenoff, the Russian consul, were in attendance.

Japanese Consul Protests.

M. Odagiri left a sick bed to attend the meeting. He made a vigorous protest against the presence of the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi in Shanghai harbor, and declared that China had failed in her duties as a neutral power. He asserted that the Japanese had the right to take the independent step of entering the harbor and seizing the two vessels. The attitude of M. Odagiri was warlike and uncompromising.

M. Kleinmenoff, the Russian consul, protested against the entering of the harbor yesterday by a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, and insisted upon the right of the two Russian warships in question to remain and repair damages.

A suggestion made by the British consul to refer the entire matter to Pekin was adopted. In the meantime the work on the Askold is to cease for forty-eight hours, and no further steps are to be taken by the consuls, who will await instructions from their respective governments.

Not a Warlike Move.

Rear Admiral Stirling explains that the visit of the American torpedo boat destroyer Chauncey from Woosung to Shanghai yesterday was simply to carry dispatches. The movements of the American warship, he says, had no connection with the arrival of the Japanese torpedo boat destroyer.

At the same time it is noted that the American warships in the harbor, while retaining the outward appearance of inaction, have for several days been practically cleared for action, with gun sights in position and steam up.

The Japanese torpedo boat destroyer which entered the harbor yesterday has left the harbor with dispatches for the fleet.

AMERICA KEEPS OUT OF IT.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The United States will not be involved in the eastern situation in attempting to maintain the neutrality of China, which is likely to be violated in such a way as to make that country almost as vitally interested in the outcome of the present conflict between Russia and Japan as the latter nations themselves.

The officials of the administration are disturbed over the situation, for the neutrality of China appears to be trembling in the balance. Notwithstanding the critical situation, however, it is believed it will be adjusted amicably.

No Idea of Intervention.

At the state department it is declared that the Shanghai dispatches do not fairly represent the situation, as advices received today from Consul General Goodnow prove conclusively that the American destroyer Chauncey, which was reported to have followed the Japanese destroyer and to have taken a position between that vessel and the Russian cruiser Askold, did not do so with any idea of suggesting American "intervention." The dock where the Askold is lying is immediately on the border of the American concession at Shanghai, and the anchorage of the Chauncey is nearby. The Chauncey moved its position only in order to get dispatches from the navy department.

No Interference with Japs.

It is asserted positively at the navy department that the American fleet at Shanghai is not charged with the protection of Chinese neutrality by any special instructions. No instructions have been sent to Rear Admiral Stirling to interfere with the action of Japanese vessels.

ENGLAND IS CAUTIOUS.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Great Britain prefers that the United States shall take the initiative in maintaining the neutrality of China. It is true, the officials say, that Great Britain agreed to the principle of the neutrality of China, but she did not agree to enforce it. Throughout the discussion relative to the Askold and the Grozovoi Great Britain held the view that it is none of her business.

Regarding the Askold and Grozovoi the Russian embassy here asserts that the mere fact of a cruiser repairing in order to put itself in a seaworthy condition is no violation of China's neutrality and that after the repairs are completed the question whether the ship shall be dismantled or must put to sea can be determined. It is further claimed that should the Askold and Grozovoi go to sea they have the right to leave together and not necessarily separately.

RUSSIA SEES FOLLY OF IT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 22.—The admiralty realizes that it would be folly to send the ships out to face the Japanese squadron in the offing and has already decided that the ships shall be disarmed.

The refusal of the Russian consul general at Shanghai to comply with the requests of the taoti is, it is said, at the foreign office, due to the fact that no agreement had previously been reached between the Chinese and Japanese authorities, and Russia did not propose to allow the Chinese to disarm the ships, as they did in the case of the Ryeshitelni at Chefoo, with the possibility that they might subsequently be attacked by the Japanese in port.

The Novoe Vremya makes a brief sarcastic reference to the reported incident of the United States torpedo boat destroyer Chauncey at Shanghai. It says:

"After the wordy anxiety of the United States over the neutrality of China at the beginning of the war it is quite possible, as Rear Admiral Stirling explains, that the simultaneous arrival of the United States and Japanese destroyers at Shanghai was a pure coincidence."

AS VIEWED IN FRANCE.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—In spite of pro-Russian sympathies serious opinion here considers that Russia's conduct at Shanghai is not justifiable, people here holding that the Askold and Grozovoi should disarm or leave Shanghai.

STOPPED BY CZAR'S SHIP.

BRITISH STEAMER HELD UP OFF COAST OF CAPE COLONY.

Russian Volunteer Fleet Cruiser, Believed to Be the Smolensk, Compels English Vessel Near Southern Point of Africa to Show Its Papers—London Press Indignant Because Pledge Had Been Given That Red Sea Incidents Would Not Be Repeated.

DURBAN, Natal, Aug. 22.—The British steamer Comedian arrived here today and reported that it was stopped by a Russian converted cruiser yesterday off the southeast coast of Cape Colony. After the Comedian's papers had been examined it was allowed to proceed. An officer of the Comedian asserted positively that the Russian vessel was the volunteer fleet steamer Smolensk, against whose conduct in searching vessels in the Red sea the British government protested so vigorously.

Renews English Irritation.

The news that the Smolensk is again stopping British vessels leads the London newspapers to question the value of the assurances given by the Russian government that the St. Petersburg and the Smolensk would no longer be utilized as cruisers.

According to dispatches from Durban the Smolensk was supposed to be watching for the British steamer Ormley, which left New York on July 9, bound for Fusan, with a cargo of railway material. The Ormley left Durban Aug. 20. All the morning papers make editorial comments on the incident. The Standard says:

"Russia cannot really wish to drive Great Britain and the United States into contemplating this supreme method of forcibly checking the harassing operations of her cruisers; yet by treating food and railway material as contraband of war she is leading them to believe that milder measures will not suffice."

Coaling Privileges Denied.

The British government has directed that ships of a belligerent, while searching for contraband, shall not be allowed coal in any British port, either from the shore or from accompanying colliers.

The stoppage of a steamer by the Russian cruiser at a point about 200 miles south of Durban has caused excitement in the South African ports where the presence of cruisers so near was not suspected.

ASUNCION REPORTED TAKEN.

Capital of Paraguay Said to Have Been Captured by Rebels, Who Are Winning Everywhere.

BUENOS AYRES, Aug. 22.—It is rumored in Formosa that Asuncion, the capital of Paraguay, has surrendered to the rebels, but the rumor cannot be confirmed.

The revolutionists have seized another steamer loaded with cannon, rifles, and munitions of war.

The revolutionists have seized the town of Villa Reyes and have captured the garrison, consisting of 200 men, 1,700 rifles, and one cannon, in addition to a quantity of ammunition for rifles and cannon.

Manuel Dominguez, vice president of Paraguay, has resigned.

There has been further fighting in the republic of Uruguay. In a hand to hand fight between Uruguayan revolutionists and the government forces at Santa Rosa, held by the government forces, thirty-five men were killed and eighty-five were wounded. The town eventually surrendered and the government troops retired by water. More of them were killed or drowned during the retreat and others sought refuge on an island belonging to Argentina.

CZAR'S MERCY TO AN ASSASSIN.

Sentence of the Murderer of Von Plehve May Be Commuted on Day Czarevitch Is Christened.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 22.—The story of the death of Sasoneff, the assassin of Von Plehve, is officially denied. It is stated unofficially that he will be included in the amnesty proclamation on the occasion of the christening of the czarevitch next Wednesday to the extent of commuting his capital punishment sentence to penal servitude for life.

The government will publish an account of the plot which the police have unraveled in connection with the assassination of Von Plehve, confirming the report that the murderer is a son of a merchant named Sasoneff of Ufa.

Ufa is situated on the Siberian railway, practically on the boundary line of the Ural mountains. In May, 1903, the governor of Ufa, Bogdanovitch, was assassinated in the public square, and the assailants were never caught.

LAND BATTLE STILL DELAYED.

Japanese Concentrating in Force on the Russian Southern Front, but Do Not Advance.

LIAOYANG, Aug. 22.—Japanese troops in considerable force are concentrating on the southern front of the Russian army, and there is continual skirmishing, but no immediate prospect of a big battle.

During the night time there is quite active firing on the Russian outposts, but the Russian troops have strict orders not to reply.

The Chinese say that 30,000 Japanese troops with 200 guns have landed at Yinkow, part of these troops going to Newchwang and part to Haichen.

MUST ANNUL TREATY IN 1906.

Germany Will Be Compelled to Abrogate Agreement with America Unless New One Is Signed.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—It is stated semi-officially that the German-American commercial treaties must be annulled on Jan. 1, 1906, when Germany's new treaties become operative. If a new agreement cannot be concluded with the United States before Jan. 1, 1906, the most favored nation relations need not be withdrawn, as the United States could be granted the new rates with the same reservations as those with Great Britain.

JEALOUS OF GERMAN ARMY.

Berlin Court Fines Author for Printing Reflections on Officer in Franco-Prussian War.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—The danger of publishing reflections on superior officers of the army even after an interval of thirty years is shown in the prosecution of Ludwig Fischer, the author of a book of reminiscences of the Franco-Prussian war, who has just been fined for allusions other than flattering to Capt., now Gen., Nicolai. Fischer proved the truth of the incidents. Nevertheless, he was convicted and fined.

HEROIC SIDE OF BATTLE AT SEA.

Fury of the Combat Between Russian and Jap Fleets in Corean Strait.

FEARFUL HAVOC BY SHELL

Officers and Men Go to Death on Ships Shattered by Rain of Steel.

VLADIVOSTOK, Aug. 21.—[Delayed.]—The technical side of the battle between the Vladivostok cruisers and Vice Admiral Kammura's squadron on Aug. 14 has been told. There yet remains the heroic side—the description of the fury of the combat, the heroism of the officers and men, the awful havoc wrought by the Japanese shells.

The Gromoboi and the Rossia present a battered appearance. Their smokestacks show great rents, while the masts, bridges, and ventilators look like sieves, and there are marks of battle everywhere. Guns are dismantled, boats shattered, and there are enormous holes in the cruisers' hulls through which a man could easily pass. Many of the cabins were completely wrecked.

Some of the Japanese shells performed queer actions. On the Rossia a shell burst in a clothes cupboard. Garments therein were torn to shreds, but a mirror was not scratched. Photographs and knickknacks on a writing table near by were not disturbed.

In another part of the cruiser the walls were blackened by the smoke of a fierce fire, in which eight men were burned alive, yet an almanac on the wall was not even scorched. Aboard the Gromoboi a shell entered the wardroom and wrecked the furniture, but a parrot cage was untouched.

Bravery of the Men.

All of the officers are full of praise for the coolness and bravery of the men who died in the battle. It was deadly work on the upper deck, where the gunners were without protection and shells striking, burst into a thousand fragments, killing and wounding men until the deck was strewn with dead and dying.

Not a single gunner protected by casements lost his life. The value of protective armor was demonstrated whenever projectiles struck the armored portion of the vessels.

Heroism of the Officers.

There were many deeds of heroism during the five hour battle, but the greatest praise of all belongs to Capt. Dabich of the Gromoboi, who remained at his post on the bridge from the beginning to the end of the fight. Once he was wounded, but he resumed command directly the wound had been dressed. No sooner had he entered the conning tower than a shell struck the foot of the tower, glancing upward to the overhanging cover, and entered through the peephole, killing a lieutenant and again wounding Capt. Dabich in the head and breast. Not a single man in the tower escaped.

There being no one to steer the ship the captain, severely wounded though he was, dragged himself to the wheel and managed it until another quartermaster had been summoned.

When Capt. Andreieff of the Rossia ascertained that only three out of its twenty big guns could be fired he coolly gave orders to get explosives in readiness to sink the ship.

Braves Death to Save Ship.

Lieut. Molas also distinguished himself. An eight inch shell entered the compartment where he was directing the gun fire and hurled him to the upper deck. Dense fire and smoke were pouring out of the compartment, but Lieut. Molas sprang into the flaming compartment and began removing the unexploded shells, regardless of the fact that they might have exploded at any minute in his hands.

Only one of the dead was brought back—Capt. Berlinski of the Rossia. His remains lay in a coffin near an ikon of the Savior, the glass frame of which was smashed. The image, however, miraculously escaped.

On board the Rurik were twenty-four officers, a priest, eighty-seven petty officers, and 700 men.

Tokio dispatcehs state that Vice Admiral Kamimura rescued 612 men from the Rurik. The figures in the Vladivostok dispatch show there were 812 men on board the cruiser when it was sunk. Hence, the loss of life amounted to an even 100 men.

Repairs Progress Rapidly.

Repairs to the cruisers Rossia and Gromoboi are proceeding rapidly. It is believed it will be possible to complete them without docking the vessels and that they will therefore take a comparatively short time.

There is a big reserve of naval guns here all ready for installation, and officers and men have been already chosen from the Siberian reserves to fill up the places of those who were killed or wounded in the fight with Kamimura's squadron.

The reserves responded to the call eagerly despite the fact that most of them are married and that they have had a terrible object lesson in the crowd of wounded already in the hospitals here. The wounded, on the other hand, are not viewing these preparations with equanimity. The first complaints they have uttered have been against having their places filled.

COTTON CRISIS IS DISCUSSED.

Premier Balfour Tells British Association It Is Impossible to Stop Gambling in Futures.

CAMBRIDGE, England, Aug. 22.—Before the British association, during a discussion of the cotton crisis, Premier Balfour said he feared gambling in futures could not be stopped, but an extension of cotton cultivation would remedy the difficulties the cotton mills were experiencing.

The principal paper was by J. A. Hutton, vice chairman of the British Cotton Growing association, in which he detailed the efforts of the association to relieve Great Britain from dependence upon the United States for raw cotton.

Mr. Hutton estimated that no less than 10,000,000 people in this country were more or less dependent on the cotton trade. The employers alone were losing $200,000 a week through short time, and the total loss to capital and labor in the cotton and other allied trades throughout the country was not less than $1,500,000 per week, or $75,000,000 per annum.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

ST. PETERSBURG—The rigor of the divorce laws, which formerly did not allow a guilty husband or wife to marry again, except after seven years' irreproachable conduct, has been modified by the holy synod making the period two years in case the offenders agree to do public penance according to the direction of their bishops.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico—The United States transports Sumner and Kilpatrick have arrived here with the Porto Rican school teachers who for the last two months have been visiting the universities of Harvard, Cornell, and other educational institutions in the United States.

ST. JOHNS, N. F.—The British gunboat Columbine, one of the vessels of the squadron patrolling the Newfoundland fisheries, struck on a rock in Snook's arm, Green bay, and it is feared that it will become a total wreck.

GLASGOW—Sir Thomas Lipton has opened negotiations with the Dennys for building the Shamrock IV., provided George L. Watson accepts a commission to design another challenger for the America cup.

MRS. BOTKIN SENTENCED.

POISONER OF MRS. DUNNING IS AGAIN GIVEN LIFE TERM.

After Second Trial of Woman Who Mailed Deadly Box of Candy from California to Delaware, the Judge Sends Her to San Quentin Penitentiary—Defendant Again Will Appeal and Fight the Case Through Higher Tribunals.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Cordelia Botkin was sentenced for the second time today by Superior Judge Carroll Cook to life imprisonment in the state prison at San Quentin for the murder of Mrs. John P. Dunning in Dover, Del., by means of poisoned candy mailed from this city.

In passing sentence Judge Cook expressed regret that he could not impose the death penalty, as the jury in its verdict had fixed the punishment.

Mrs. Botkin received the sentence without evidence of emotion.

An appeal to the Supreme court will be taken by her attorneys.

This is the second time that Mrs. Botkin has been sentenced to life imprisonment for the same crime.

Crime Committed in 1898.

It was on Aug. 12, 1898, that Mrs. Dunning and her children, together with her sister, Mrs. J. D. Deane, all living in Dover, Del., ate of candy sent to Mrs. Dunning from California with the following message:

"With love to yourself and baby. Mrs. C."

Mrs. Dunning died, the children and Mrs. Deane were made ill, but recovered. Then it was discovered that the candy had been poisoned.

It was not until Dunning, who was in Porto Rico at the time, returned that Mrs. Botkin was accused. Dunning identified the handwriting on the candy package, and told of his acquaintance with Mrs. Botkin in San Francisco.

Jealousy was adjudged the motive. The governor of Delaware requested California to deliver Mrs. Botkin for trial on the charge of murder. The governor of California complied, but Mrs. Botkin appealed to the courts, and after an expensive contest the courts held that no requisition could be honored, as Mrs. Botkin was not a fugitive from Delaware.

First Trial a Long One.

Eventually she was put on trial in California, and after a long trial, in which almost every sort of expert was employed by the state of California and witnesses were brought across the continent from Delaware, she was convicted and sentenced in September, 1898, to imprisonment for life.

She appealed all through the state courts. Every appeal was opposed by California. Losing, she carried the case to the United States Supreme court, which, after four years, granted a new trial.

At the second trial last March the entire case came to a standstill for a time because it was charged a jurist had been tampered with in behalf of Mrs. Botkin, but the trial finally was concluded and another verdict of guilty returned.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

PACKERS PROVIDE NEW DORMITORY.

Workers in Yards to Sleep at Hammond if Forced from Present Quarters.

FIRST TRAIN MAKES RUN.

Injunction Suit Against the City Being Argued Before Judge Brentano.

While the hearing of the bill for an injunction restraining the city from interfering with the lodging of workers in the stockyards was in progress yesterday in the Superior court, the packers were perfecting a plan for housing their employés at Hammond, Ind.

The first train in the new service ran from the stockyards last evening. It carried only a few workers, but more will be transported to the Indiana suburb from day to day, if the restraining order is not granted, until the entire force is accommodated. The men will go to Hammond at night and return in the morning on special trains of the Erie railroad.

"Orders have been given for cars sufficient to carry 2,500 persons," Inspector Hunt said. "It is only a short run, and there will be little delay getting the workers to and from their toil.

"The abandoned buildings of the Hammond Packing company, now owned by the National Packing company, will be utilized as a mammoth hotel. They will hold 10,000 men. The workers can be cared for much better there than in the packing plants.

"City police will guard the trains to the city line. If any violence is encountered beyond that, the state authorities will be called on. In Hammond the protection of the Indiana authorities will be sought if the workers are disturbed."

On the inauguration of the new service the cars had few passengers. Most of the employés who went out of the yards for the night went downtown on the Lake Shore railroad.

Stay of Ordinance Promised.

The promise of a twenty-four hour stay of the enforcement of the city ordinance was made by Corporation Counsel Tolman to Thomas A. Moran, representing the employers, when Judge Brentano adjourned court for the night. The argument on the case will be continued this morning.

The injunction suit was brought in the name of the Hammond company. Mayor Harrison and Chief of Police O'Neill were the defendants.

The bill recites the facts of the strike and continues:

"After the employés were employed the former employés and their confederates commenced violent attacks upon your orator's present employés whenever they left the premises, and it became dangerous for them to go to their ordinary places of rest outside, and therefore it became necessary to provide places of rest for such employés."

The structure where the employés are housed at Forty-fifth street and Center avenue was built in compliance with all the city ordinances, the bill declares, in all respects safely constructed, thoroughly ventilated, and kept in a clean and healthy condition.

Unions Issue a Statement.

The following statement was given out by the unions in reply to the packers' statement which appeared yesterday in THE TRIBUNE:

The packers have now made to the public a "recital of facts." This recital they say shows that the packers have always stood for arbitration, while the union has always "opposed such methods." So it does. But this sober recital omits certain facts.

On May 28, when the annual agreement expired, the union did not "oppose peaceable methods," but conferred six times with the packers through the month of June, only to be met each time with a flat refusal of every proposal they made. The packers refused to sign any agreement at all for [illegible] per cent of our 50,000 members.

Still our committee persisted in further meetings. Meanwhile the steamfitters allied with us offered to submit their scale to arbitration, and this the packers flatly refused. With several former refusals in mind, the unions decided at last to strike. It took two weeks of special conventions and special meetings of local unions all over the country before the unanimous wish of our 60,000 members had been voiced. The packers knew of these preparations, but delayed their offer to arbitrate until so late that it was impossible to stop the machinery of the strike.

Say Packers Broke Agreement.

The packers claim also in this recital that the car workers violated their agreements when they struck later in July. They omit to state that they themselves already had violated their agreement with the car workers. On May 10 they signed an agreement raising the men who receive 16 cents an hour to 17½ cents. At Swift's plant twenty-five of these men were kept at 16 cents in violation of the agreement. This was only one instance of many violations. The packers omit to say that they themselves, while negotiations were pending with our union in June, had reduced over 1,000 of our men from 18½ cents an hour to 17½ cents and even lower. The packers omit to say how they themselves violated the arbitration agreement and so brought on the second strike. They violated the agreement by hiring on Friday morning, July 21, nonunion men by the wholesale. The packers showed by the spirit in which their foremen received the union men that the agreement was to be still further violated.

On Friday morning, when scores of the union girls applied at Armour's for their old places they were met by Foreman Pension, whose record for insulting the girls under him has long been notorious. He used the vilest epithets that can be applied to a woman. News of this outrage spread like wildfire. Our men were moved by irresistible indignation and refused to submit to such treatment.

The statement concludes with an account of efforts of the packers to prevent the forming of the union.

BODY THAT OF STRIKE BREAKER.

Police Identify Dead Man Found in the River as Thomas Tucz, a Nonunion Worker.

The body of a man found yesterday near the west fork of the south branch was partly identified last night as Thomas Tucz, 5031 Paulina street. He was a nonunion worker at the stockyards. On Aug. 16 he left his boarding house to go to the S. & S. plant, where he was employed. He has not been seen since, and it is the theory of the police that he may have been killed in a strike riot.

Determined efforts were made by the packers to prevent a recurrence of the fatal shooting of Saturday night, when the Lake Shore strike breakers' train pulled out of the yards. Forty policemen were stationed along the route. Committees from the packing houses rode in each of the three trains which left the yards at the close of work. It is understood they will make a report asking for more police.

The trip through the yards was devoid of violence. At various points when the train stopped the strike breakers jumped off and picked up stones. They expected an attack and were visibly frightened.

Two hundred strikers gathered about a house at 4028 Marshfield avenue in the evening and threw stones at the building. Frank Carpat, who lives on the first floor, and is said to be a union man, fired four shots at the ground in an attempt to disperse the crowd. The police scattered the mob and took Carpat to the New City station, later releasing him. The police think the crowd was seeking John Kowalski and his wife and daughters, who work at the stockyards.

J. D. Thompson, an employé at the Armour plant, escaped from seven pickets after they had robbed him of clothing and money and were about to beat him, early this morning. The robbery occurred in front of 3361 Emerald avenue, where Thompson formerly lived.

Attacked by two men who accosted him at Fulton and Union streets yesterday, Herbert Butow, 2626 West Railroad avenue, Evanston, a machinist, was so severely beaten that his removal to the county hospital was necessary. He told the police that both his assailants were pickets from the C. F. Elmo's engineering works, Morgan and Fulton streets.

COST OF STRIKE GROWS IMMENSE.

"I have taken $6,000 worth of meat out of the storage warehouse," he said. "It is packing house meat, too. I succeeded by buying picnic tickets.

"I am on the best of terms with the union men. That did not, however, prevent their refusing to permit me to take my meat from the cold storage house. The teamsters would not handle it, and I was told that if I hired others to do the work my ice would be shut off and my market butchers would strike.

"While I was wondering what to do, a representative of one of the unions came to sell me the picnic tickets. I told him I would take all he had if he would get my meat out. The meat is in my own cooling rooms now. I gave back the tickets. They were worth what they had cost."

Seek Regular Stock Shipments.

In pursuance of the plan of the representatives of the various interests at the stockyards to secure a better distribution of live stock receipts through the days of the week 30,000 circulars were sent out during the day to growers and agents in the central and western states. At present most of the stock comes in on Monday and Wednesday. The packers, commission men, railroads, and the stockyards company are seeking to persuade the shippers to treat all days alike.

The circular goes directly from the commission firms. It urges the shippers to coöperate to secure "a more even distribution of the receipts of live stock throughout the week."

"We hold an agreement from all buyers of live stock on this market," the circular reads, "to purchase live stock as freely on Tuesdays' Thursdays, and Fridays as they do on Mondays and Wednesdays." A copy of the agreement, signed by the packing companies and the commission firms, accompanies the circular.

An even distribution of stock will result in more steady employment for the workers in the packing plants. This will remove one of the conditions causing the strike.

PROPOSE TO IGNORE UNIONS.

New York Packing Houses Make a Statement Against Any More Agreements.

New York, Aug. 22.—The local beef packing houses, through Frederick Joseph, vice president of the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger company, today declared their independence of union labor in this statement:

"At our Chicago and Kansas City houses we have refused to have any more conferences with the representatives of unions which have broken their agreements, and we do not see any use in making any new agreements with the unions."

"We are going ahead on an open shop basis," said Mr. Joseph. "Our plant is now running on a normal basis."

QUIT WORK IN HAMMOND SHOP.

Employes of Fitzhugh Locomotive Works Object to Repairing Lake Shore and Eastern Engine.

One hundred and fifty men were forced out of employment at the Fitzhugh-Luther locomotive works in Hammond, Ind., yesterday because they insisted on the reinstatement of a foreman. The trouble arose over an engine from the Lake Shore and Eastern shops which was being repaired. There is a strike on at the Lake Shore shops and the men refused to work on an "unfair" engine.

STRIKERS STONE A FUNERAL IN A SOUTH OMAHA RIOT.

Attack Is Made to Show Resentment Against Nonunion Carpenter—Shots Are Fired Into a Mob.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—A mob of nearly 200 strikers and their sympathizers attacked a funeral procession this afternoon. Bricks were thrown at the hearse, and a large force of deputies which was on hand was unable to quell the disturbance. The strikers took this means of showing their resentment against a carpenter who had remained at work in one of the packing plants, and whose child's body was in the hearse.

A pitched battle between deputy sheriffs with clubs and revolvers and a mob of nearly 500 men armed with stones and brickbats lasted nearly an hour this afternoon. More than 100 shots were fired and at least six persons were severely injured.

The disturbance was near Sheely station, where a train with strike breakers for the South Omaha packing plants was bombarded last week by strike sympathizers.

A small force of deputies had been stationed to protect the right of way. Stones were thrown and in response shots were fired into the mob.

Police scattered the rioters and made six arrests.

EXPELLED MEN BEGIN SUITS.

Cripple Creek Citizens Will Ask Injunctions to Protect Their Property from Mobs.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 22.—H. N. Heinerdinger and J. S. Hall, representatives of the Interstate Mercantile company, who were expelled from Cripple Creek on Saturday by a mob, today hired former Gov. Charles S. Thomas to begin suit in the federal court for an injunction forbidding interference with them and their property in Cripple Creek. They also will seek compensation from Teller county for their losses.

Thomas Parfet, who was beaten by the mob, is preparing an affidavit to be forwarded to President Roosevelt with a request for federal protection.

"I do not consider the disturbance in the Cripple Creek district of a serious nature," Gov. Peabody said today. "It was just a case of trouble between the people in the district and some outsiders who wanted to come in. There was a third party that got into trouble by 'butting in' where they should not, and they were told to leave the district."

Engley Will Protect Himself.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 22.—Eugene N. Engley, attorney general of Colorado during the Waite administration, one of the men run out of Cripple Creek on Saturday, argued a case in court here today. "I intend to return to Cripple Creek," he said today, "and I shall protect myself. I am not connected with the Western Federation of Miners in any capacity, my services to that organization having ceased six months ago."

ITALIAN KILLED AT ZIEGLER.

Gun Is Accidentally Discharged by a Fellow Workman While Examining Weapon.

Benton, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Adolfo Constantino, an Italian, was shot and instantly killed at Ziegler yesterday by Godetano Chiona, another Italian. The latter was in a room examining a gun when it was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through the wall and killing the former, who was on the front porch.

The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental killing.

It was at first reportd that there had been a clash at Ziegler between nonunion miners who wanted to get away and some of Leiter's guards. It was said one man was killed and seven injured by shots fired by the private guards, but there was no truth in the report.

Striker Is Arrested.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—J. Holland, one of the striking miners at Ziegler, was arrested today and brought to the Springfield jail by United States Deputy Marshal Dowell, charged with violating an injunction issued by Judge Humphrey in the federal court restraining miners from interfering with operations of the Ziegler Coal company's mine. It is charged that Holland fired at an engineer on a train which was bringing strike breakers to Ziegler from St. Louis.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

SECRETARY MORTON and his family have arrived in New York on the United States ship Dolphin. Secretary Morton has been along the New England coast inspecting navyyards.

DAVID THOMPSON, United States minister to Brazil, and Mrs. Thompson were passengers on the steamer Byron from Brazil ports, which has arrived in New York.

HUG FRACTURES ONE RIB.

HARRY SIDDERS IS ACCUSED BY A YOUNG WOMAN.

Miss Emma Anderson Tells Court That One of Her Arms Also Was Broken—Another Witness Relates of a Kiss Which Left a Scar—Defendant Declares He Was Compelled to Be Forceful and He Escapes with Payment of Costs.

When Harry Sidders put his strong right arm around Miss Emma Anderson, 99 Dawson street, the young woman said, "Don't!" Then she heard something crack, and she found out afterward, she says, that the hug had fractured a rib and broken one of her arms.

"It was fierce, judge," Miss Anderson said yesterday to Justice Martin, before whom she appeared to prosecute Sidders on a charge of assault and battery. "He was worse than a bear—I suppose."

Miss Maggie Elton, 266 Dayton street, appeared with the complainant, and told of an experience she once had with Sidders. He had kissed her, she said, and incidentally bitten her cheek. Miss Elton showed the court the scar in order to support her evidence.

Breakage Results from a Call.

According to the story told by Miss Anderson, Sidders called upon her several days ago and the breakage resulted. She did not say whether the hug was authorized, but she gave the impression that it was not.

"I did not think it was possible to be all broken up by a hug," said Miss Anderson. "I told him to go away and then I went to Dr. Wherritt, who told me of the injuries I had received."

The physician corroborated this part of the evidence.

"It isn't possible," declared Sidders. "The woman hugged me voluntarily, and I even tried to get away from her. I told her to keep away from me."

Is "Sufficiently Punished."

"As you say the women forced you to do these things I believe that you have been sufficiently punished," said Justice Martin, addressing Sidders. "I will fine you the court costs."

Sidders paid the costs, $3.85, and left the courtroom with the young women.

FALLS FROM A SAILBOAT AND DROWNS IN LAKE.

Charles Lewis, While Out as Guest of Jackson Park Yacht Club Superintendent, Loses His Life.

Charles E. Lewis, 443 West Sixty-fourth street, fell overboard and was drowned in Lake Michigan off Sixty-fourth street last evening while out sailing as the guest of Fred Ames, assistant superintendent of the Jackson Park Yacht club. C. A. Tracey, 6414 Minerva avenue, was also one of the party.

Lewis wished to shift his position in the boat; his foot slipped on a wet board and he fell into the water. He could not swim and sank before the boat could be brought about. Lewis' body was recovered.

News reached Chicago of the drowning at Seneca lake, New York, of Samuel B. Holzheimer, 4049 Grand boulevard. Mr. Holzheimer was 29 years old and a well-known young attorney. He was drowned while bathing.

While playing on the docks at the foot of Superior street Louis Latterro, 10 years old, fell into the river and was drowned.

Martin A. Delaney, 35 years old, 2821 Archer avenue, was found dead in the drainage canal near Lemont in the morning. It is thought he committed suicide while despondent over failure to obtain work.

WED IN SPITE OF PARENTS.

W. L. Lidder of Burlington, Ia., and Miss Ida Thompson Are Married at Wellington Hotel.

W. L. Lidder, a retired clothier of Burlington, Ia., and Miss Ida Thompson of Chicago were married last evening at the Wellington hotel by a justice of the peace. As the bride had been divorced Episcopal clergymen refused to perform the ceremony.

Lidder came secretly to Chicago to meet his bride because of the opposition of her parents.

William P. Gaembel, 71 years old, and Ellen Collins, 45 years old, both of Strawn, Ill., also came to Chicago to be married. He was a widower, and the wedding was a surprise to his sons and daughters.

"UNCLE JOE" CANNON HAS SCARE OVER MISSING GRIP.

Speaker of House Intrusted It to Strange Young Man and Then Stirs Up the Waldorf.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—"Uncle Joe" Cannon came in on the Dolphin this morning, with Secretary Morton and the secretary's party. The speaker was anxious to get ashore, and shouted to a good looking fellow: "Hi, there, son, take that up to my hotel."

The young man disappeared and "Uncle Joe" went up to the Waldorf. He intended to leave for Illinois tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. About 3 o'clock he went to the desk and said: "My boy, where is my grip?"

The clerk at the desk looked "Uncle Joe" over. He is a new clerk and he did not know the speaker. "I am sure I can't tell you" he replied.

"Uncle Joe" sauntered around a bit and then came back and asked another clerk about the grip. That clerk knew the speaker, but he had not seen the grip. Then "Uncle Joe" began to get excited. "Find it!" he shouted, issuing orders to everybody in sight. "I want that grip, young man, and I want you to find it."

There was scurrying of pages, porters, maids, and all sorts of employés. "Uncle Joe" stood in the center of the lobby and directed operations. Every person who went out to search came back empty handed.

"By gravy," said "Uncle Joe," only he used another word—"I want that grip. There's all the statistics about the republican campaign in it. I was taking it to the headquarters in Illinois. If anybody tries to read those statistics all at once it will be fatal, and I will have homicide added to my other crimes."

The police were notified and the house detective turned up everything in the house.

Just as the speaker was beginning to think the bright looking young man had taken him for a countryman his grip was found standing in a corner of the baggage room.

JOHN WANAMAKER TELLS OF WHITE GHOSTS IN BIG CITIES.

Declares It Is Better to Be Poor Man and Rich Christian than Rich Man and Poor Christian.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—"It is better to be a poor man and a rich Christian, than a poor Christian and a rich man," said John Wanamaker today at the Presbyterian evangelistic rally here.

"When the American people took over the Panama canal," he continued, "they also took over a 'white ghost.' They inherited the graveyard of France, the tomb in which the hopes and lives of thousands are buried. When the spades first turned the soil of what will be the great American isthmian canal there came from the decayed vegetation of centuries poisonous vapors, deadly air filled with germs that killed men like fleas. This vapor, this fatal cloud of rising, death laden atmosphere was called the 'white ghost.'

"Where men mass together in great cities you will find the 'white ghost' of evil. You will find temptation, loneliness, and poverty. You will find the 'white ghost' of unbelief, of infidelity, of idleness. There is no more prolific source of evil than idleness—the 'white ghost' of idleness in big cities.

"There is the 'white ghost' of drunkenness, the 'white ghost' of gambling, which often has its inception when a little child drops its first penny in a slot machine. There is the 'white ghost' of horse racing, the 'white ghost' of policy shops, and the 'white ghost' of what Solomon called the 'house of death.'"

INJURED BY A "THIRD RAIL."

Adrian Andrews Burned at County Line Station of Interurban Electric Road.

While attempting to cross from the north to the south platform at the county line station of the Chicago, Elgin and Aurora electric railway, Adrian Andrews, 629 Thirteenth avenue, Maywood, yesterday fell across the "third rail" and was severely injured.

An approaching car was flagged before it reached Andrews and the crew removed him from the rail. He was taken to the Phœnix hospital in Maywood.

SHIPYARD ROW IS ENDED.

LAST OF SUITS IN CASE DISMISSED BY GENERAL CONSENT.

Court Enters Order Which Stops All Litigation and Makes Reorganization of the Properties Possible—Schwab's Bethlehem Plant to Be the Basis of New Concern—Receiver Smith to Be Dismissed as Soon as Affairs Are Checked Up.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Judge Lacombe in the United States Circuit court today signed an order which puts an end to the litigation begun against the United States Shipbuilding company and Charles M. Schwab.

The order dismissing the case was reached through an agreement of the counsel in the case, the firm of Hornblower, Bryne, Miller & Potter signing the stipulation as solicitors of the New York Security and Trust company, complainant in the action; Guggenheimer, Untermyer & Marshall as solicitors of the United States Shipbuilding company, and its receiver, former Senator James Smith Jr. of New Jersey, and Guthrie, Cravath & Henderson as solicitors for Charles M. Schwab.

The order in no way affects, however, the action recently taken by Gov. Odell in connection with the affairs of the shipyard trust.

Order Entered by the Court.

The order reads: "Ordered that said cause be and the same hereby is discontinued; the bill of complaint and cross bill respectively be and the same hereby are dismissed without costs to any party against any other party."

The stipulation signed by all the counsel in the case reads as follows:

"It is hereby stipulated that the above entitled cause may be discontinued and the bill of complaint and cross bill dismissed without costs to any party against any other party, and the order to that effect may be entered without further notice."

Clears Way for New Concern.

This dismissal is the last of the foreclosure suits, and simply is another formal movement winding up the litigation begun by the stockholders in the suit to have a receiver appointed. All the legal barriers now have been removed and the foreclosure sale of the Bethlehem steel plant owned by Charles M. Schwab will take place on Sept. 2.

Then the reorganization of the old shipyard combination into a new company known as the Bethlehem Steel and Ship Building company will be finally effected. The new board of directors will be chosen and the new concern will start active operations within a few weeks.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Paint Sellers and Buyers Convene.—Over 200 traveling salesmen and 100 customers of the Heath & Milligan Manufacturing company assembled yesterday at the Sherman house for their thirty-seventh annual convention. This morning a demonstration of the use of different paints will be made by J. B. Campbell, followed by addresses by a dealer and a salesman. The purpose of the convention is to give the traveling agents a chance to meet and discuss business with their employers. Last evening the delegates attended a performance at the Studebaker theater.

Priests in Annual Retreat.—Nearly 350 Roman Catholic priests of the Chicago archdiocese will assemble next Monday at the University of Notre Dame, Ind., for their annual three days' retreat. The Paulist fathers will arrange the services and it is expected Archbishop Quigley and Bishop Muldoon will take part. The order of exercises will include prayer, fasting, spiritual reading, self-examination, and confession. Vows of ordination will be renewed at the concluding exercises on Friday.

University Sues Former Student.—The University of Chicago has filed suit against Byron G. Moon, 6026 Woodlawn avenue, to collect $1,600, said to have been advanced for the publication of the Daily and Monthly Maroon, the college papers. The university asserts the money was borrowed in May and October of 1903 upon notes given by Moon and Margaret E. Moon. Moon was formerly a student, but is now employed as solicitor by a local advertising agency.

Sewer Contracts Let.—Contracts for sewers to cost $120,000 were let yesterday by the board of local improvements. The more important were: Burke & Donohue, Fifty-seventh street, between Jackson Park avenue and Cottage Grove avenue; estimate, $58,713; bid, $58,716. Nash Bros., Belmont avenue, between Lake View avenue and Evanston avenue; assessment, confirmed, $24,279; bid, $26,021. In this last improvement a supplemental assessment is ordered.

Last Day for Board of Review.—The board of review today will complete its work for the year, having considered over 17,000 complaints. The largest reduction made yesterday was that of the American Sugar Refining company, whose assessment was reduced from $350,000 to $150,000.

TEACHERS WIN FIGHT IN COURT.

Court Restrains the Board from Using $249,564 Except for Back Pay.

BINDS THE TAX MONEY.

Trustees Say They Are Not Surprised and Will Carry the Case Higher.

After a legal struggle extending over nearly four years the Chicago Teachers' federation yesterday was granted an injunction by Judge Dunne restraining the board of education from using the $249,564 secured from corporation taxes for any purpose other than the payment to the teachers of the amount of the "salary cut of 1900."

The victory won by the teachers was followed by the announcement by the attorneys for the board of education that an appeal would be taken. Should the Appellate court sustain the decision of the Circuit court judge, the trustees will carry the case to the state Supreme court.

The decision of Judge Dunne was not a surprise to members of the board of education. They declared they all along had based their hopes of retaining the money, not upon Judge Dunne but upon the higher courts.

Teachers Jubilant Over Victory.

Members of the teachers' federation, including Miss Catherine Goggin and Miss Margaret Haley, who have led the fight waged by the instructors, were jubilant over the victory. They declared that should the board attempt a repetition of its "dilatory" tactics in the higher courts it would be wiped out of existence by popular vote and the legislature before any victory could be gained. Trustees elected by the people, they said, would retire from the fight and hand the money over to the teachers.

More than 2,300 teachers are affected by the decision, and the back salaries which remain unpaid for the period from January to June, 1900, average from $14 to $150.

Attorneys for the board and its trustees still contend that all school moneys must by law be divided between the educational and the building funds, and that under such a division only $171,000 of the $249,564 can be paid to the teachers or into the educational fund. They hold that any other division would amount to a violation of the state school law.

Counsel Makes a Statement.

Attorney I. T. Greenacre, counsel for the teachers' federation, gave out a statement of the case immediately after the opinion of the court had been handed down. He said, in part:

To encourage experienced teachers to remain in the service, the board in 1898 adopted a fixed salary schedule graded according to experience. In 1900 the street railways, gas, telephone, and electric light companies dodged every penny of their franchise taxes. This created a deficit in the revenues. The board had hired its teachers at the schedule rate for the school year from September, 1899, to June, 1900. When the deficit was discovered, instead of making the corporations pay their taxes, it cut the teachers' salaries.

The teachers went into court and compelled the state board to assess these corporate franchises at $163,667,285. The taxes extended were in round numbers $2,000,000. The federal court restrained $1,000,000 of this. The other $1,000,000 was collected. The state and county and drainage and park boards got their share. The city received $597,000. It paid the policemen and firemen the deficits due them, and allotted to the board of education $249,554.

The day the money was paid in, in the middle of the vacation, the board of education called a special meeting to divert it for other purposes. The teachers enjoined the board from so doing, and claimed this money as due them for their wages.

Court Explains Decision.

"After a deliberate and careful examination into the records of the board the court has reached the conclusion," said Judge Dunne, "that the board of education in fixing salaries in the spring of the year fixed them for the school year next ensuing and that the board, when it elected the teachers each year in June, and the teachers, when they were elected, both had in contemplation a hiring for the ten month school year at a definitely fixed salary for the said ten month school year."

Praise for the teachers is given and the board is scored by the court in the following language:

While the defendant, the board of education, sat supinely by and while other public officials more specially charged with the levy and collection of these taxes refused to perform their sworn duty, this complainant, acting for and on behalf of these same teachers out of their own limited resources, went out and performed the duties which primarily devolved upon the tax levying bodies of the state and secondarily upon the board of education to see that the tax levying officials of the state collected the taxes honestly belonging to the schools of the city and brought about the payment of dishonestly withheld taxes.

Miss Haley declared that Judge Dunne had, by his decision, proved that "there is at least one fair judge in Chicago."

THE RUSSIAN SHIPS AT SHANGHAI.

Sunday's Shanghai dispatches were a little scary. They were calculated to create the impression that the Japanese intended to lay hands on the Russian warships at Shanghai, and that Admiral Stirling, the American commander, did not mean to let them. In reality, it is not certain that the Japanese have any such intention, and the navy department says Admiral Stirling has been given no instructions to interfere with their vessels. Furthermore, a St. Petersburg dispatch says the admiralty has decided to disarm the ships in time.

The situation is a peculiar one. Immediately to the north of the native city of Shanghai is the French settlement, or concession. Next comes that of the British, extending along the river for three-fifths of a mile. Then comes the American one. The anchorage for merchant vessels is in that part of the stream on which the first two settlements front, and that for men of war a little higher up, near the American concession. The settlements, with their large warehouses and streets lined with handsome dwellings, have a large foreign population of business men, who manage [illegible] internal affairs of their respective communities quite independent of Chinese officials, although, in theory, Chinese sovereignty extends over the settlements.

Those who speak of Shanghai as an "international port" are not far out of the way. Foreign interests there are quite as important as Chinese interests. Consequently, while it is the duty of China to protect the persons and property of the foreigners domiciled at Shanghai, if she is unable, or unwilling, to do it, it devolves on the respective foreign governments to protect their citizens.

A Russian cruiser and torpedo boat destroyer, fleeing from Port Arthur, put into Shanghai on the 12th and are there yet. If seaworthy they should have left in twenty-four hours or have been disarmed. If not seaworthy it was lawful for them to stay long enough to make those repairs which will make it safe for them to leave, but will add nothing to their fighting ability. Presumably the ships are seaworthy, for the Chinese officials have ordered them to leave or disarm, but their commanders do neither, and the officials say they cannot enforce obedience.

Here is an illustration of the "imperfect neutrality" of China of which the Japanese government complains. The conduct of China does, indeed, compare unfavorably with that of Germany at Kiauchau, nor have the Russians shown the same respect for Chinese that they did for German neutrality.

Suppose the Japanese should go up to Shanghai and attempt to seize the Russian vessels. If there were no foreign settlements it would be a simple affair, but there are such settlements, and the taotai says he cannot protect them in the event of trouble. Then whatever foreign nation has warships on the spot must protect them.

A fight in the river between Russians and Japanese at the place where the former are anchored would be likely to result in loss of life and property in the American and other settlements. A neutral nation may fairly say that that should not be allowed. On the other hand, intervention to stop a fight would be in the interest of Russia, which is violating Chinese neutrality. Nor is it the province of a neutral to order the Russian ships to respect that neutrality by going to sea or dismantling. That would be taking sides with Japan.

Under the peculiar conditions existing at Shanghai the United States has a right to suggest to the Russian government that it wants no fighting near its settlement, and that if the Japanese are bent on attacking the Russian ships they should be moved up or down the stream, away from the international port. If that were done and the Chinese did not intervene to prevent fighting, nobody would.

It is to be hoped the Japanese will respect the "imperfect neutrality" of China, even if the Russians do not.

THE SECOND STRAW VOTE.

THE TRIBUNE'S second straw ballot, whose result was published yesterday, raises to 10,988 the total number of Chicagoans whose presidential preferences have been ascertained.

Of these 6,504 are for Roosevelt, 3,789 for Parker, 548 for Debs, and 147 for Swallow. Their usual vote is 6,006 republican, 4,209 democratic, 422 socialistic, and 129 prohibition. Roosevelt and Debs gain at the expense of Parker.

The second ballot confirms the story told by the first one, that there is at this time in this city a drift towards Roosevelt, which is stronger in some classes than others, but which applies generally to a poll representing thirty-seven classes in the community.

THE TRIBUNE began its poll with no idea of what the result would be and with no intention of boosting a particular candidate. It simply wished to ascertain popular sentiment as to all of them. The results it has obtained are without partisan color. There has been no attempt to make a canvass so as to give Roosevelt the best of it. If he leads it is because of his greater popularity.

A POSSIBLE STRIKE SETTLEMENT.

The union ought to be punished. It broke its word when it called the second strike. If such actions are to bring no consequences with them, justice is defrauded and the morale of the community is shattered.

The punishment suggested by the packers is a refusal on their part to give the union another agreement. Is it not possible that a more effective punishment could be found in the annihilation of the restrictions with which the union has surrounded the daily conduct of the meat industry?

Large employers have said time and again that their quarrel with trade unionism was based not so much on demands with regard to hours and wages as on restrictions with regard to employment, discharge, promotion, and output. The union stewards at the stockyards have harassed the packers by constant interference with the details of business. They have watched the number of animals killed each hour, and have warned the workers to slacken speed when the number recognized by the union was being exceeded. They have watched the workers who were being promoted from lower to higher positions, and have remonstrated with the foremen when those workers were not chosen according to the seniority system which the union had devised. They have watched the workers who were being laid off, and have objected when there was any violation of the union system of "last hired, first fired." Other illustrations might be given in large numbers till the reader would easily understand what the packers meant when they said that the control of their business was being taken out of their hands.

This is the heart of the whole difficulty. The packers can stand higher wages. They can stand more regular hours. They can stand a union which exists for the purpose of securing a better arrangement of wages and of hours. What they cannot stand is a daily, childish, vexatious impairment of the efficiency of their business. This is a reasonable deduction from the statements which they have made in conversations and in interviews.

The interest of the packers here coincides with the interest of the whole country. It is to the interest of the whole country that the meat industry shall be conducted so efficiently as to bring meat to the consumer at the lowest possible price that is consistent with the physical and moral health of the men and women who prepare it for the market. It is also to the interest of the country that after those men and women have been given decent hours and decent wages they shall do a full, honest day's work and shall refrain from spreading the contagion of dishonest, demoralizing laziness.

If the union could be compelled to withdraw its restrictions with regard to employment, discharge, promotion, and output the most indefensible feature of its activity would be removed. Could not the packers then withdraw their objections to giving it a new agreement?

It is indubitable that a majority of the men and women whom the packers have secured to take the places of the strikers are adventurous vagabonds rather than normal, family-shackled working people. Many of them come from the most profligate section of Chicago's black levee. Strike breakers of this description will for excitement and for big money consent to break strikes, but they will not submit to long continued daily drudgery. As one of the packers has candidly remarked, they will cool off when the strike has been settled and will gradually drift away.

All strike breakers, however, who care to continue at work when the strike is over will be retained. This the packers will properly consider as essential. But as a matter of practical fact, which packers and strikers both realize, only a small percentage of the strike breakers—not nearly enough to man the plants—will care to continue at work.

But workers the meat industry must have. Who will those workers be three months after the present difficulties have been composed? They will be for the most part exactly the same men and women who are now out on strike. The packers themselves expect no other outcome.

What then will be the consequences of starving these men and women back to work without an agreement with their union? The history of the last twenty years furnishes an immediate answer. There will be smoldering discontent, finally flashing up into open resistance. The conflict of today will be retraversed in its whole dreary round.

The union has been faithless. Should the union, therefore, be destroyed? Even the packers must admit that this question is purely academic as long as public opinion in working people's districts remains what it is. If the present butchers' union is destroyed there is every probability that a new one will be rapidly formed. Is it better to have a new union, clandestine, resentful, inexperienced, or an old one, chastened, mature, and increasingly reasonable?

It would appear, therefore, that both abstract justice and concrete peace would be best secured by an understanding embracing the following principles:

First—Hours and wages shall be submitted to arbitration. This will be a concession to public sentiment.

Second—The union shall abandon all restrictions on employment, discharge, promotion, and output. This will be a punishment for the union, a concession to the packers, and a tribute to common sense. It will go far toward establishing the rule which ought to govern all industry that after hours and wages have been justly settled an employé ought to work every minute of those hours and earn every cent of those wages.

Third—The packers shall retain such of their nonunion employés as wish to remain, but the packers shall not refuse to deal with their union employés through the union officials. In other words, the packers shall discriminate neither for nor against the unions.

Let both packers and strikers meditate on the dilemma which is presented to them. What the country wants is peace.

FREE TRADE WITH THE PHILIPPINES

The Philippine act of 1902 provided that when general peace had been restored in the islands a census should be taken. Peace has been established and the census taken. The act provided also that within two years after its completion and publication, if conditions of general and complete peace with recognition of American authority obtained, the president should call a general election for the choice of delegates to the lower house of a Philippine legislature, of which the commission will be the upper house.

The Filipinos who are members of the honorary commission to the St. Louis fair have sent a letter to the secretary of war in which they ask him to present to the president their petition that the future Philippine assembly may be convened as soon as possible. They assert that that is not only desirable but indispensable.

They say that the Philippine commission, which now has exclusive legislative power, has enacted a burdensome internal revenue law against the unanimous protest of all classes of society. The coming of the Philippine assembly, they say, is looked forward to as a security that future laws of equal importance with the one mentioned shall be fully discussed and have the concurrence of the representatives of the people to be affected by them.

The Filipinos also ask for the removal of or great reduction in the Dingley law duties on the sugar and tobacco of the islands—duties which are so heavy as to keep the products in question out of the American market. The Spanish markets the Filipinos once had are closed to them.

Whether it is expedient to have a Philippine assembly before the two years are up is a question for the president to determine. He has all the facts in his possession. He knows how the leading Filipinos feel. He is acquainted with the views of the commission. The principle that there should be no taxation without representation is as dear to him as to any American, and if he believes immediate representation is wise he will grant it.

As to the expediency of doing away with the duties on the great Philippine products there can be no question. The Spanish market they have lost should be replaced by the larger and richer American market. When that is done the Filipinos will get better prices for the commodities which they will produce in larger quantities and they will be better able to stand taxation. Taxes which seem burdensome now will not be felt then.

Free trade with the Philippines is the question which should receive the earnest attention of the next congress. It is not a matter of party politics but of colonial statesmanship.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1904: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

LORD CREWE, a former viceroy of Ireland and who bore the name of Bobby Milne when he was with his father, the late Lord Houghton, during the latter's prolonged stay in this country, has become so passionately devoted to motoring that, not content with having a large number of automobiles in his stables, he has given up all his horses and carriages, supplying their places with new machines. As his stud groom, however, had been with him a number of years, and he wished to retain his services, he made an offer to the man to send him to France for six months' training in motor driving at his [the earl's] expense. The same proposal was made by Lord Crewe to eight other of his coachmen and grooms, and all of them bowed to the inevitable and accepted the earl's liberal offer. Lord Crewe formerly maintained a stud of nearly 100 carriage and saddle horses, besides keeping up a large racing stable, with which he parted a short time ago.

He is exceedingly rich. For he not only inherited a fair income from his father, Lord Houghton, but likewise a large amount of landed property and an income of $300,000 a year from his uncle, the late Lord Crewe. Besides this, his present and second wife, a daughter of Lord Rosebery, has brought him a great fortune, which came to her through her mother, who was Miss Hannah Rothschild.

There are many people in England, beginning with the king himself, who have diminished the number of horses in their stables, supplanting them with motors. But so far as I am aware, Lord Crewe is the first one to dispense with the horse altogether.

While Lord Crewe has withdrawn from the turf, he remains a member of the Jockey club. Four new members have just been elected to that body, a fact which it is well to note in view of the extraordinary number of candidates who have been blackballed in recent years. Indeed, for several successive seasons every name proposed was turned down, and there are still some titled owners of important racing stables who, in spite of royal backing, have been unable to secure election. In former times the names of the candidates for the Jockey club were announced in the Racing Calendar, published during the week preceding the ballot, so that when any one was blackballed every one was aware of the unpleasant fact. Nowadays, however, there is no public notification, and it is only through the indiscretion of the members that the names of the men who have been turned down become known. Notice of candidature is forwarded by the keeper of the match book to all members by circular not less than a fortnight previous to the day on which the ballot takes place, and two black balls are sufficient to exclude, which, of course, renders admission difficult. For a man must be either a marvel of amiability, or singularly prudent, or much in the background in racing affairs, if he does not succeed in making at least two enemies by the time that he has been for a few years on the turf.

The four members who have just got in are the young duke of Westminster, who keeps both a breeding and a racing stud; Sir Samuel Scott, who is a son-in-law of Lord Cadogan and stepson of Lord Farquhar; the master of the king's household, Sir Simon Lockhart; and J. Alexander.

It is Sir Simon Lockhart, who, as laird of the Lockharts, has in his possession the historic heirloom of the family, known as the "Lee penny," which suggested to Sir Walter Scott one of his best known novels, "The Talisman." It is a simple, three cornered pebble, set in an old silver coin, and was given as ransom by a Saracen chief to the founder of the Lockhart family. When King Robert Bruce lay dying he expressed a wish that his heart might be conveyed to the holy land for burial after his demise. An expedition, headed by Lord James Douglas, set out for Palestine after his death with the object of fulfilling his request. Sir Simon Lochard of Lee was one of the party, and when crossing Spain Lord Douglas was killed, along with most of the members of his expedition, by the Moors. Sir Simon managed to escape with the heart, and, finding it impossible to proceed any further, brought it back to Scotland for burial in Melrose abbey. For this service he was permitted by royal patent to change his name from Lochard to Lockhart.

The healing virtues of the Lee penny have been noted for centuries, and water in which it has been immersed, if drank by man or beast, is said to instantly cure every ill. It is preserved in a gold casket, which was presented to one of the lairds of the Lockharts during the eighteenth century by Empress Maria Theresia.

The family estates are held by one of those queer old tenures from the crown about which volumes of picturesque stories might be written. The dukes of Marlborough and of Wellington each hold their ancestral estates by virtue of a tenure which requires that they should present each year, respectively, a small silken French flag to the sovereign, one on the anniversary of the battle of Waterloo and the other on the anniversary of the battle of Blenheim. The Lockharts in the same way hold their Garnwath estates in Lanarkshire by virtue of a tenure which prescribes that the owner of the property should have a race run in his presence on what is known as the village green, in the quaint old town of Garnwath. The prize given to the winner is a pair of shoes and a pair of red stockings, accompanied, of course, by a monetary gift. The origin of this strange tenure is supposed to have arisen through a desire in ancient times to find out the most fleet person who could summon the retainers and members of the clan of Lockhart to arms.

With regard to Sir Samuel Scott, he is not only a soldier by profession, but also a banker, as well as a member of parliament. His family and his London banking house may be said to have been founded by Sir Claude Scott, who had extensive dealings in corn with the United States towards the end of the eighteenth century and in the early part of the nineteenth century. On one occasion he needed a good man to transact some business for him on this side of the Atlantic, and accordingly wrote to his correspondents at Liverpool, asking them to select somebody for the purpose.

They strongly recommended "our Mr. Gladstone, a valued employé." The latter went to America for Sir Claude Scott, accomplished the latter's business most successfully, and incidentally laid the foundation for a connection of his own. Returning to England, he went into business on his own account, and blossomed forth into Sir John Gladstone, baronet, the father of the "grand old man." The connection thus established between the Scotts and the Gladstones was long maintained, and until the death of the late William E. Gladstone he was wont to keep his money at Scott's bank at Westminster and in Cavendish square.

Sir Samuel married the prettiest of the daughters of Lord Cadogan, who, during a moment of mental aberration, resulting from illness, eloped with a fellow officer of Sir Samuel. The matter might have remained unknown to the general public had not the man who had thus taken advantage of Lady Sophie Scott's mental condition been himself married. His wife sued him for divorce, naming Lady Sophie as corespondent. The divorce was granted, and, while the officer at fault was forced by his comrades to leave both the regiment and the service and was virtually driven out of England by social ostracism, Lady Sophie, after a period spent in a sanitarium and then with her parents, returned to her husband, whose generous course in the matter met with universal approval.

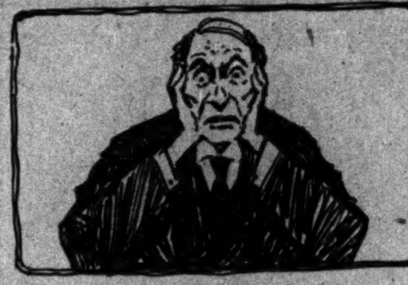
One of Sir Samuel's predecessors in the baronetcy was his father's elder brother, who, like the founder of the house, bore the name of Claude. It is his widow Selina, Lady Scott, who has come before the public in such an unenviable fashion on several occasions in connection with bankruptcy proceedings and also in a suit for criminal libel, brought against her by her former son-in-law, Earl Russell, which resulted in her conviction and sentence to six months' imprisment. Her daughter, the ex-countess of Russell, has been twice divorced, first from the earl and then from a groom of the name of Thomas Brown, whom she married under the impression that he was an Austrian prince.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

The Candidate's Glad Hour.



I do not mind the shaking hands,
  Nor introductions right and left,
Nor bang and blare of busy bands
  By which the trembling air is cleft—
But, O, I have to smile and smile,
  To scatter sunshine every place!
I'm thankful for each little while
  When I may partly rest my face.

The delegations come and go,
  Committeemen drop in to chat—
A smile I've always got to show;
  I always must remember that.
Although this constant smiling lends
  To one's campaigning work a zest,
I'm happy when good fortune sends
  A chance to give my face a rest.

Shake hands and smile; smile and shake hands;
  Arise and bow with winning smile;
Smile, to the tooting of the bands!
  I feel just like a crocodile!
The weary muscles of my cheeks
  Seemed stretched to hold my mouth agape—
I'm but a slave who thus bespeaks
  A chance to get his face in shape.

All morning and all afternoon
  And half the night my smile is on,
Until I think of what a boon
  'Twould be were it forever gone.
Alas! Not mine to question why—
  My duty is to smile, and wait,
And pray that the long hours may fly
  So that my face may soon get straight.

Each dream that haunts my slumber mocks
  My weary face, with mad'ning guile;
A nightmare of a ballot box
  Demands that I keep on my smile.
So, one dull ache from ear to ear,
  I go my way from place to place,
And finer far than shout or cheer
  Would be a chance to rest my face.

ENCYCLOPAEDIA OF JAGS.

How persons became drunk and disorderly from the days of Rameses and Assurbanipal down to the present time, is graphically related in the Standard Encyclopedia of Temperance and Prohibition. This is an exhaustive work in four volumes soon to be added to the world's literature by the New Voice company.

There is no dry reading in the work. It tells of the kinds of liquors, how they are made, and the effect they have had. It's a far cry from the seductive beverages brewed in Babylon to cocktails and highballs, and from the early Teutonic weinstubes to the new subway saloon in New York, but the encyclopedia includes them all in a forceful and entertaining manner.

Nearly 200 experts—authorities on the alcohol question from all parts of the world—have gathered the material from thirty-two languages. More than 30,000 volumes have been consulted, according to the prospectus, just issued, and innumerable manuscripts, official reports, and documents have been overhauled. But this didn't satisfy the editors, John G. Woolley and William E. Johnson.

At odd times in the eighteen months the work has been in preparation the assistants have been digging up from ancient tombs in Egypt, Assyria, Greece, and Rome bas reliefs and other representations of ancient drinking bouts. The frontispiece shows Assurbanipal and his queen drinking in the gardens of Ninevah. It doesn't say what they are imbibing, but both appear to be enjoying the contents of the receptacles, which in form partake of the characteristics of a champagne glass and a beer bathtub, such as can be found in a workingman's exchange in State street.

In the front of the prospectus the editors enumerate several things that "it is not," among them:

It is not an attempt to promote the interests of any theory as to drink or any plan for the solution of the drink problem.

It is not a collection of opinions or sermons for or against drink.

It is not a collection of biographies, although it presents the biographical record of all who have left an impress on the reform.

Among the biographical records is one of Ani. There was no regular prohibition party in Egypt before the time of Moses, but there was need for reform and Ani did much in that direction nearly 200 years before Pharaoh's daughter found Moses floating in the bulrushes.

The backbone of the work consists of elaborate topics on each country, state, and province in the world; in scope a complete history of drink and reform in the country in question. Full statistics of drunkenness and crime are given.

Saloonkeepers might subscribe to the encyclopedia, because it gives treatises on every known intoxicating liquor of ancient and modern times, showing its character, the method of its manufacture, and any religious and social customs attending its use. These topics include nearly 100 African native drinks alone—also the sloe gin rickey.

The historical features of the work and the effect liquor has had on events might be interesting to scholars. Speaking of the excess that grew upon Egypt under Rameses II., it describes the racial decay in graphic language, terminating with Cambyses' scaring the Egyptian power into submission with a shipment of cats.

There are quotations from ancient philosophers showing the effect of the drink evil on their times. Herodotus wrote five centuries before the Christian era that drunkenness showed that both the body and soul were ill. Diodorus and Plutarch both wrote of drink madness as "an affection of the body which destroys kings, nobles, and peasants." Chrysostom declared inebriety "to be a disease like dyspepsia."

DETROIT'S GRADE CROSSINGS.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Having noticed your article regarding the Colorado avenue street car accident I would say we have a simple device universally used in this city, where electric roads cross railroads, called a derailing switch. It is a switch set to the curb, to derail the car to the curb. Where the brakes give out or for any reason the car goes on, the car is merely run to the curb. The switch has attached an operating device which extends from the switch to the railway crossing, where the conductor or other person must proceed to view the situation and set the switch. This seems to be a simple device and we have never heard of an accident in this city, where such device is installed. We think if it was called to the attention of the street railway men they would adopt it, and thus save accidents.

SUCCESS OF WORKER'S MAGAZINE.

[From the Fourth Estate.]

The Worker's Magazine, which was recently added to THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE as one of its supplements, is attracting widespread and favorable comment among publishers throughout the country and is also proving a big success in increasing the circulation of THE TRIBUNE.

The editorial judgment used in the preparation of this supplement is as careful as that of a high class magazine. Every effort is made to make it appeal directly to the worker, and the character of the contributions which have appeared so far is a convincing evidence that its editors have been unusually successful. The Worker's Magazine is probably one of the most substantial features that has ever been issued with any Sunday newspaper.

Famous "Miracle Pearls" of China.

Images of Buddha, Grown in Mussel Shells, an Art in the Picturesque City of Ningpo.

[BY ELIZA R. SCIDMORE.]

NINGPO, June 28.—"You may live in China all your life and find something new on the last day," said one of the veteran missionaries to me at Hangchow. "And on our last trip out into the country on our village rounds we came upon these," producing a pair of shells on whose inner, nacreous surface lay embedded rows of "blister pearls" and the famous "miracle pearls"—tiny pearly images of the Buddha in low relief.

These miracle pearls have been known as products of Chinese skill and ingenuity for centuries. Every museum possesses one or more shells with the pearly image embedded, and in the old days of the East India trade the New England sea captains used to bring them home from their cruises. They got them, of course, at Canton, but Canton no longer knows them, or shows them for sale, and persistent questioning can get no clew as to the place where the miracles are made to order. They used to be sold at the Buddhist temples in Canton, and I had been told that they were also brought by the pilgrims as souvenirs of their visit to the sacred isle of Pootoo, in the Chusan archipelago; but no one knew where the "pearl yards" were, where the seat of Chinese pearl culture might be.

Pearls Made to Order.

"I saw these on the ledge of the wall in one house, and when I asked about them they told me to come and see," and without any effort, prolonged interest, question, or search, the good missionary stumbled upon the whole business of the miracle pearls.

Pearl rearing, it seems, was the chief industry of that remote village in Chekiang province, and had been its unique specialty for ages. Each generation had passed on the secrets of the art and knew not when it began, who first taught or evolved the processes by which the fresh water mussel is induced to retain mud pellets and small metal objects which are slipped into the shells and to diligently cover them with nacreous substance.

The foreign visitor who had chanced upon the miracle making village was taken to a place where eight or ten men sat around tables prying the mussel shells open to admit of little pellets of baked clay and bits of flat metal, impressed evidently from a die, in the shape of a seated Buddha.

The mud balls are slipped in and the mussel does the rest, but the little scraps of Buddhas must be placed right side up with care, as Chinese esthetic culture has never reached the appreciation or evolution of an intaglio.

The mussels are put in ponds and left there two or more years, and are then ready for opening and cutting the "blisters" and Buddhas free from the shell surface. Whether the mussels were fed by the pearl cultivators, the visitor did not learn, nor just the arrangement of rotation or alteration of ponds for each season's harvesting.

While the villagers carried on the other usual industries of rice and silk culture, the pearling remained the chief source of wealth, some families realizing as much as 300 silver dollars each year from their pearl crop. The blister pearls go to jewelers and are worked upon into elaborate Chinese hair ornaments; and the miraculous images of the Buddha, tiny, carefully modeled, exquisite little half inch long jewels, are sold as sacred treasures and talismans to pilgrims at the Buddhist shrines around Hangchow and at Pootoo for the little while each season that the limited supply lasts.

Queer Drug Stores in China.

The pilgrim season at Hangchow makes a great demand on the country round for the materials of medicines, and the greatest drug store in China is at the old capital. Not only do the simple pilgrims associate spiritual and bodily healing with the same sacred places, but by long repute the drugs of Hangchow have a reputation for curing where the same potions and powders from other places are less efficacious.

The big drug store at the foot of the city hill there is a sight in itself, with its many stone courtyards, surrounded by two story pavilions, whose balustrades and partitions are so richly carved, lacquered, and gilded that one takes the great wholesale establishment for a temple, or guild hall, at first.

One pursues a labyrinth of courts and passages, and comes upon workmen, pounding ginseng and rhubarb, rolling pills by the million, washing little stone jars and toy demijohns by the score, and filling them with nauseous looking fluids.

Dried toads, rats, and lizards are there in wholesale quantities, dried hearts and livers of many beasts, and those sovereign remedies—dragon's blood and dragon spine—wherever on earth they find them.

A menagerie of living animals await their conversion into curative articles, and in one court there is a row of sunless pens or cages, where spotted deer are kept. Every part of the deer, from its horns to its hoofs, is convertible into some sovereign cure for ills endured, or warranted to endow the consumer with certain of the deer's qualities. Whether these harts pant for cooling streams or not, they show their loathing of their pens, which have apparently never been cleaned out, by remaining always up on the dry shelf or platform along side of the iron barred cages, keeping their dainty feet out of the deep filth of the floors. The Augean stable was a sanitary reform exhibit compared to these cages of animals at the great drug store and factory of Hangchow.

Easy Journey to Ningpo.

The trip over from Shanghai to Ningpo is such an attractive and easy one and so well rewards the traveler that one is at a loss to understand why the tourists who idle in Shanghai hotels waiting mail steamer sailings, cannot more often be induced to take it. The ride down the muddy river from Shanghai and over the muddy waters to the clear sea around the Chusan islands does not offer anything of scenery or beauty until in sight of the blue island outlines.

The sail up the Yung river to Ningpo is alone worth coming over to see, but as one leaves Shanghai at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and is tied fast at the Ningpo bund by 7 the next morning, more travelers see it as they leave Ningpo than in the reverse order.

American Trade in Ningpo.

The Ningpo bund might be the bund of any other river port foreign settlement. First come rows of Chinese built godowns, with the gable ends of the blue brick walls so strangely like those of Holland, and far down are arcaded and loggiaed houses of the customs and consular officials among green trees. Huge tanks of American kerosene stand monumental on the flats beyond, and the native city lies up stream, in the opposite direction.

Ningpo's great industry or industrial specialty is carved and inlaid furniture, and a one cabinetmaker's quarter, shop after shop is crowded with imposing Chinese bedsteads, square tables, and chairs inlaid with the same landscapes and figures one learned to know on the willow pattern plates.

The maker of the best Ningpo carved and inlaid furniture has a shop in the foreign concession, in the shadow of the British consulate, and he has adapted his inlay designs to many pieces of furniture for foreign household use. Cabinets, writing desks, tea tables, chairs, stools, and big tea trays are covered with the fine willow patterns in white on brown, and the effect is unique and pleasing.

This old cabinetmaker has a wall full of awards of merit from foreign expositions, having exhibited at Paris, Philadelphia, and Chicago, and he has now sent a large consignment of his best work on to the world's fair at St. Louis. He speaks with great pride of the pieces he has sent to America, and the resident foreign officials took great interest in his preparations for that display, and expect to hear of the Ningpo furniture being a profitable sensation.

Pagoda Eleven Centuries Old.

The great pagoda of the city is eleven centuries old and 180 feet high, and until 1860 was a fantastic tower ringed round with fourteen rows of red balustrades and fourteen red eaved roofs hung with jingling wind bells.

The Taipings were full of religious fervor in the first years of their ravages, and they laid low everything that was like a temple or held an altar with images. The great pagoda was built solidly, for all time, and, though they might burn the outer galleries and roof, the core resisted and stands intact, the seven rows of windows so many gaping wounds in its sides.

Some clumsy images have been set up in the sanctuary of the ground floor, and a ragged priest ekes out a scant living with his sales of candles and incense sticks. To this rich and prosperous city of 300,000 and more inhabitants there has never come a governor like the Manchu ruler of Soochow, with enterprise, right feeling, and intelligence enough to undertake the restoration of the old architectural monument, which had been the pride and ornament of the city for 1,100 years.

"Did your other doctor take your temperature?" was the first question he asked.

DEVERY EMULATES BISHOP POTTER.

Opens a Model Saloon at Far Rockaway and Gives Political Advice.

MEN MAY PROSECUTE.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE }
New York, Aug. 22. }

William Stephen Devery is Bishop Potter's first recruit in the model saloon business. Devery, descending from the high intellectual plane in which he has been accustomed to revolve, has bestowed his blessing and some capital upon what the irreverent might call a "joy station" at Far Rockaway. Like the subway tavern, the seaside help to the weary will not sell drinks to those who have no money with which to buy.

Devery Opens Model "Joy Station."

Devery's model tavern was formerly known as the Rossmore, and Devery acquired it through foreclosure proceedings. In order that the new enterprise may be properly conducted after the lofty Devery principle he has put in charge his nephew, John J. Byrne, and his brother-in-law, Michael Bergen. It is the most pretentious building in the neighborhood. It has been christened "At the Sign of the Pump." Devery was seated in front of the new hostelry this afternoon handing out political wisdom in tabloids of the queen's own English, and advising the bartenders to follow the new Episcopal ruling and decline to sell to persons already intoxicated. A crowd of young fellows walked up and went into the saloon. After they had refreshed themselves by a goodly number of rounds in the prehistorical way, and were coming out Devery held them up and delivered the following twelve commandments:

- Don't drink.
- Don't chew.
- Don't smoke.
- Don't play the horses.
- Don't go into politics.
- Never play any game of chance.
- Attend your home church.
- Keep away from grafting politicians.
- Don't work hard, unless you have to.
- Instead of blowing your coin in gin mills blow your best girls to ice cream.
- Go to bed early and rise early.
- If you have to hurt a friend to make money, lose the money first.

May Turn on Building Employers.

The prosecution of "Diamond Phil" Weinseimer, president of the Building Trades alliance, on a charge of extortion is not to pass without a determined effort being made by counsel to show that certain employers should also be criminally prosecuted. A mass of evidence to this end was submitted to the district attorney, and he was asked to consider whether or not it could be used by him as the basis of a criminal prosecution.

The evidence was read over by Assistant District Attorney Rand, who prosecuted Sam Parks. After reading the evidence submitted by Weinseimer's counsel Rand said he wanted more, and was told more would be produced. A bundle of evidence was taken to the district attorney's office by Frank Adam Acer, manager of the People's Security company, and J. C. Toole of the same company, who represented Weinseimer. Acer said:

"The conspiracy provisions of the penal code have heretofore been used in labor matters exclusively as weapons in the hands of employers as against organized labor. Now things have come to our attention which indicate that a fair interpretation of the criminal law makes necessary the prosecution of certain parties who have been prominent as employers."

From what Mr. Rand had to say it was evident that Acer and his associates hope to formulate a conspiracy charge against one or more employers.

Mrs. Maybrick Will Land Today.

The steamer Vaderland, from Antwerp and Dover, with Mrs. Maybrick aboard, was sighted off Sandy Hook late this evening. It will dock at the foot of Fulton street early tomorrow morning. D. S. Decker, who has acted for Mrs. Maybrick in recent litigations, learned today for the first time of the defense in the suit which Mme. von Roques has had against D. W. Armstrong.

"I am amazed," Decker said today, "at the production of the documents embodied in Armstrong's answers to the baroness von Roques. They have totally changed the aspect of the case and clear him completely of the charges made against him."

Mr. Decker said he had depended entirely for his information on attorneys in Virginia who recently had acted for Mme. von Roques, and added that he thought S. V. Hayden, who is now on the steamer with Mrs. Maybrick, also had been misled.

Much has been said of the deeds Mrs. Maybrick signed shortly after her conviction.

"The deeds executed by Mrs. Maybrick at her trial," said D. W. Armstrong, "were of a purely formal character and solely for the convenience of the purchasers in question, and could have divested her of no rights or interest whatever, inasmuch as the contract with Mme. von Roques has not been modified in the slightest degree, but remained the same as when entered into on Sept. 14, 1887, during the lifetime of Mr. Maybrick, and as in force at the date when Maybrick joined in the execution of the deeds with his wife."

Miss Anthony Back, Cheerful and Hopeful.

Miss Susan B. Anthony, accompanied by the Rev. Anna H. Shaw and Miss Lucy Anthony, arrived here today on the steamship Minnetonka from London, where she visited, after a journey to Italy and Switzerland, on her return from the Berlin congress of women. In London a large reception and garden party was given by the suffragists at the house of Miss Holland, not far from Hyde Park and the Kensington gardens. Lady Balfour, president of the suffragists, assisted in receiving. The last suffrage resolution passed parliament by a majority of 114.

"But it was only a resolution," sighed Miss Anthony, with her old time humor. "If it had been an actual law perhaps members would not have been so liberal."

"English women are well informed on politics," she continued, "and talk of it, and, indeed, of most subjects of general interest, much more than American women do. In Scotland and Ireland they are doing the same thing as in England."

On the subject of the outlook for suffrage in America Miss Anthony said:

"We are not gaining materially as much as we hoped for. But there is an undercurrent in our favor.

"We found the German women responsive. The fact that Emperor William permitted and encouraged our efforts is significant. It was only a little while ago that he asserted that the three Ks—kinder, kuche, and kirche (children, kitchen, and church)—were all that he considered necessary for woman to concern herself with."

Attempt to Aid Arctic Expedition Delayed by Ice.

William Zeigler received today a detailed report from W. S. Champ, who went out from Norway early in the summer with the steamship Frithjof to carry relief to the Zeigler polar expedition under Anthony Fiala on the America. The report tells of a severe arctic season and the futile attempts of the Frithjof to buck the ice fields. The relief party at one time succeeded in getting within seventy miles of Franz Josef Land and then had to give it up. Champ's plan is to reach Cape Flora before the winter season begins, about Sept. 5. There he expects to find news of Fiala and the main expedition.

WEST SIDE CARNIVAL OPEN

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE ATTEND THE OUTDOOR SHOW.

Olympian Sports, Pompeiian Fire Dance, and Chariot Races the Features of the Arena Program—Lions' Den, Where Marriage Ceremony Is to Be Performed, the Object of Much Curiosity—Coronation of Queen Lucille I. to Take Place Next Monday.

With a set piece of Ald. Scully in fireworks and the opening of the pike the West Madison street business men's carnival was formally inaugurated last night. Ald. Scully was not there, however. He did not address the expectant crowds from the band stand in Garfield park. Business engagements kept him away.

Nevertheless the show was a success. The thousands who held their breath during the eruption of Vesuvius never imagined that the volcano had nearly been blown over in the storm of the night before. The Olympian sports, the Pompeiian fire dance, and the chariot races were the features in the big arena.

In the adjoining lot Mlle. Mamie danced in a waterfall of fire.

"Man's supremacy over the brute creation" was amply demonstrated to the gaping crowds in the Ferari animal show. The lions' den, in which a wedding ceremony is to be performed, was the object of much curiosity. The couple chosen for the ceremony travel with the show. Having performed their parts successfully before, "Capt." Steve Lawrence, the trainer, says that they stand little chance of being killed.

Next Monday night will witness the coronation of the carnival queen, Lucille I. Ald. Scully's postponed speech will be delivered. Mayor Harrison, City Attorney Smulski, and President F. A. Bangs of the west park board have also prepared addresses.

The following ladies in waiting have been chosen:

Miss Mae Copeland,
Miss Estelle Beardon,
Miss Cora Jacobs,
Miss Jeanette Leis,

MAFIA SCARE ONLY A "JOKE," DECLARES ITALIAN CONSUL.

Count Rozwadowski Reassures Undertaker Who Received a Threatening Letter, and Says Reports Are Unjust.

Antonio Sbarbaro, the Wells street undertaker who received a threatening letter signed by "the five skeletons," is the victim of a practical joke, according to Count Anthony Rozwadowski, the Italian consul at Chicago.

"Sbarbaro should not allow himself to be frightened and the police should be sensible enough to disregard the sensational reports that he has been marked for slaughter by the mafia or any other Italian society," said Count Rozwadowski. "The letter, I am told, was written in English and undoubtedly was the work of practical jokers. The publicity given the so-called 'Black Hand' society in New York evidently gave the writers their inspiration."

That the spreading of such sensational reports is a great injustice to his people was the further statement of the consul.

"The custom of attributing the authorship of such letters to members of Italian secret societies," he said, "is caused by ignorance, and works great injury to members of the race in Chicago, most of whom are well behaved and industrious citizens."

Other leading Italians of the city agreed with Count Rozwadowski that the exploiting of such crude "plots" should be resented by their countrymen.

A week ago Sbabaro received a letter written in English, and evidently the work of some one accustomed to writing, demanding the "paltry sum" of $10,000 if he wished to live. There were the usual directions to meet the consiprators at a lonely spot at 2:30 a. m. and surrender the cash. It was signed, as stated, by the "five skeletons." Sbabaro was then in a hospital, and paid no attention to the letter until several days later. Then he told his friends, but did not notify the police. Nor has he yet turned the letter over to them that they might hunt for its authors.

Inspector Shippy and Capt. Rehm agreed last night that the affair was a hoax, and that the author of the letter was an American. "The whole thing is a fake," said the police.

George A. Stevenson, 875 West Monroe street, was arrested yesterday, charged with operating a confidence game. Stevenson does business under the name of "G. A. Stevenson & Co, brokers," 115 Dearborn street. Mrs. E. Baker, who keeps a store at 55 South Elizabeth street, and other persons, complain that he answers advertisements of stores for sale, secures deposits on his fee in advance, and never sells the stores.

Thomas W. Crowley, 73 years old, and said to be one of the cleverest confidence men in the country, was arrested by Policeman Bradley and locked up at Harrison street station.

DEMOCRATS SEEK HARMONY IN EAST

Conferences in New York City to Patch Up Murphy-McCarren Quarrel.

LEADERS ARE HOPEFUL.

Tammany Chief Is Held to Have Best of Situation, and Will Keep Up Fight.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—There was another important meeting today in the direction of bringing about harmony between Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany hall, and Patrick H. McCarren, chairman of the democratic state executive committee. Cord Meyer, the democratic state chairman, appointed Senator Victor J. Dowling an additional member of the executive committee and assigned him to take charge of the bureau of organization, the operations of which shall be confined to greater New York.

This is intended as a concession to Tammany hall, but if it is expected to end the opposition of Murphy to the retention of McCarren as chairman of the state executive committee, it probably will fail of its purpose. It is stated that Murphy will go ahead with his war on McCarren and will not cease it until McCarren has been displaced from his important position.

Efforts to Pacify Murphy.

Two weeks ago, in an effort to placate Murphy, the Parker managers of the state offered to place Senator Dowling on the executive committee as the representative of Tammany Hall and offered to take out of the hands of McCarren the power to spend money if Murphy would let the Brooklynite have the empty honor of the chairmanship of the executive committee and cease his opposition.

This was rejected by Murphy, who sought to impress on the campaign managers that what he wanted was McCarren's scalp and that he could be satisfied with nothing else.

Cord Meyer and W. S. Rodie, former Judge Parker's representative on the executive committee, at their consultations on Saturday and Sunday decided to appoint Dowling and see how it would work.

Meyer Issues a Statement.

Meyer late in the afternoon issued this statement:

"Cord Meyer, chairman of the democratic state committee, has added Senator Victor J. Dowling to the executive committee. William S. Rodie already had been assigned to the charge of the bureau of organization for the organization of the party outside of Greater New York, and Senator Dowling will perform similar duties in Greater New York, having due regard to the existence of the county committees therein, and to organize within those territories for the purpose of assisting in polling the entire democratic vote for the democratic ticket."

Inquiries at proper sources of information as to the actual effect of this new move in the feud between Murphy and McCarren resulted in the information that Murphy's attitude is unchanged. It also was said that Murphy, while he was at the headquarters of the national committee, disclosed some reasons why he was opposing McCarren. These reasons, it is said by Tammany men, impressed those who heard them.

Murphy Makes Impression.

When he was through Murphy looked the Parker campaigners in the eyes and said:

"Lay that before Mr. Parker and see how long he will stand for McCarren."

The state chairman claims he has no power to remove McCarren, and if Murphy still wishes it he must appeal to the full state committee, which meets later this month. Murphy, it is said, will do this.

Even as the matter stands now, Murphy has won a big victory, for McCarren has been robbed of everything but the name in connection with his position.

Talk of Hearst for Governor.

Esopus, N. Y., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The latest governorship gossip heard among politicians at Esopus is that William Randolph Hearst is to emerge at the last moment from his position of obscurity since the St. Louis convention and will try to win the nomination for governor. This, however, is in the event there should be a disagreement between the Tamamny forces who are now advocating the nomination of Goodyear and the Stanchfield element operated by David B. Hill.

BLOUNT IS PARTY PURSER.

SAYS FUND WILL BE ADMINISTERED IMPARTIALLY.

As Western Treasurer for National Republican Committee He Declares His Personal Likes and Dislikes Do Not Count — Postmaster General Payne, in Chicago, Talks of Wisconsin Contest—State Chairman West Soon to Put on Political Harness.

"I am a republican," said Fred M. Blount last evening. The reply came in answer to a question as to his appointment as western treasurer for the national committee.

In acknowledging that the appointment had been made, Mr. Blount also denied the suggestion that he would distribute the money to be spent in Illinois so that none of it would be used for electing the state ticket. It is known that he is none too friendly personally to Mr. Deneen or any of his colleagues on the ticket, unless it may be the nominee for attorney general. Speaking of the situation, however, Mr. Blount said:

"Not only am I a republican, but I do not believe the persons who think the worst of me will honestly accuse me of carrying my personal likes or dislikes into a matter of this kind. What money will be raised for Illinois I do not know, but I will promise it shall be spent for the good of the party. There will be no favorites."

The Blount appointment was made at the suggestion of Frank O. Lowden, who is the Illinois member of the national committee. It is reported that it was concurred in by Harry C. New, member of the committee from Indiana. Mr. Cortelyou as chairman of the committee, is said to have confirmed it, after consultation with the president.

Postmaster General in Chicago.

"The only news I know of in my presence in Chicago is that I am here," said Postmaster General Henry C. Payne in the afternoon. "I expect to be here a couple of days and then go to Wisconsin, where I have some business which has been neglected for a couple of years. Of Wisconsin politics I know less than the people who are on the ground."

The arrival of the postmaster general aroused considerable gossip. It had been the talk for some days that the western committee was anxious to get the Wisconsin situation off its hands and thought the easiest way out of it was to have the stalwart ticket in that state withdrawn and leave the field clear for La Follette. Under those conditions there would be no doubt about the result in the state so far as Roosevelt and Fairbanks are concerned.

So when Postmaster General Payne came the story was started that he had been asked to intercede with the stalwarts in his own state and get them to withdraw the suit now pending in the Supreme court of Wisconsin.

Mr. Payne, however, denied that anything of the sort was in contemplation. It was given out unofficially that the suit would be fought to a finish.

Plans of Chairman West.

Chairman West of the republican state committee expects to get into political harness next week. He has been prevented from going into active service on account of his duties as a member of the board of review, but thinks he will be able to clear his work up there within a few days.

PLATT SAYS ROOT IS OUT.

Senator Declares Former Secretary of War Will Not Be a Candidate for Governor of New York.

New York, Aug. 22.—Senator Platt said today that he had received a letter from Elihu Root declining to be the republican nominee for governor.

"I received Mr. Root's letter two days ago," said Senator Platt. "As far as I am concerned, it settles the question. I don't believe that his being the nominee of the party is in the range of possibility now. He writes that he will not accept if he is nominated, and nothing could be more positive or final.

"I am in favor of an open convention. Gov. Odell says that he is. Of course we all have our preferences, but I do not believe the candidate will be selected until the convention assembles in Saratoga."

NEW ELECTOR IS SELECTED.

Republican Committee of Twentieth Illinois District Names A. C. Matthews in Place of Frank Blane.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The republican congressional committee of the Twentieth district met here today and selected A. C. Matthews of Pittsfield presidential elector, vice Frank Blane of Petersburg, disqualified because of being a national bank director.

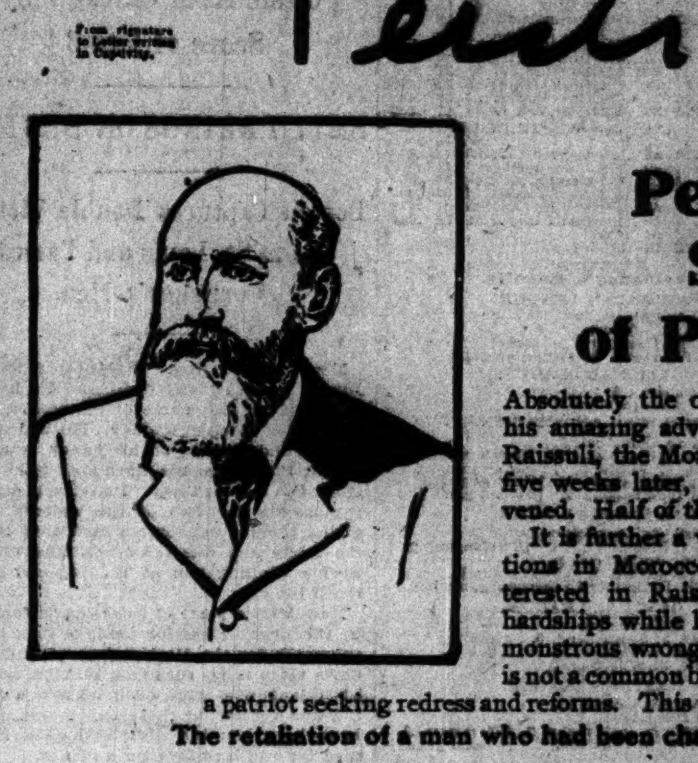
From signature written in captivity.



The Personal Story of Perdicaris

Absolutely the only account by Perdicaris of his amazing adventures, from his capture by Raisuli, the Morocco bandit, until his release five weeks later, after three nations had intervened. Half of the story was written in captivity.

It is further a wonderful revelation of conditions in Morocco. Perdicaris becomes so interested in Raissuli that he forgets his own hardships while he tells with feeling about the monstrous wrongs inflicted upon Raissuli, who is not a common bandit, but a man of high family, a patriot seeking redress and reforms. This part of the story might be called The retaliation of a man who had been chained to a wall for four years.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

BOSTON WINNER IN FINAL GAME.

Defeat Colts in Craziest Exhibition of Year by Score of 7 to 5.

BROWN AGAINST WILLIS.

Pitchers Have Lack of Control Battle, and Local Man Wins Out.

Boston grabbed off its final game of the year on the west side grounds yesterday and left town with a 7 to 5 victory in its clothes, after one of the craziest exhibitions of the national pastime that has been afflicted on local fans for many a semester.

Both teams were patched up, but it wasn't the patches that were responsible for the many things which do not usually happen in baseball. Brown and Willis were pitted against each other and were running a neck and neck race all the way for lack of control, Brown winning out in the end by a majority of one pass, one batter hit, and one wild pitch. The three fingered man's record was six bases on balls, one batter hit and two wild pitches. He was not hit as hard as the elongated victor, but the visitor had several Colts on his staff and profited by that in the tight places.

Carney and Tinker Easy.

Chief of these marks were Carney, the recruit from the coast league, and Joe Tinker, each of whom Willis fanned three times. The third time Tinker was struck out was in the last half of the ninth, when the Colts were making a game rally, had scored two runs, and filled up the bases, besides, with two out. A hit from Tinker would have, at least, tied up the scrap, and the rooters' mad glee at the prospects was suddenly turned to black gloom.

Errors and passes gave the Beaneaters a long lead at the outset. Geier gained two lives for a starter, first when Barry muffed his pop foul and again when Brown threw his grounder wildly to first. Tenney sacrificed and Abbaticchio died easily, but Marshall drew a pass and Delehanty cleaned up with a three bagger to right center. In the second inning Brown issued three passes, but managed to get two men out between whiles, so that when Abbaticchio raised a little fly to Evers it looked like no damage. But Johnny let it slide through his fingers and two more runs were over the pan. The Colts pulled themselves shut for a while, but in the seventh Moran got a pass for a starter, and, after Willis' sacrifice, three singles scored two more runs.

Colts Score First Run.

In the third Slagle's single, followed by Delehanty's muff of Chance's long fly, scored Chicago's first run. But the Colts could not get fairly under sail till the eighth. Then, starting out with Chance's life by grace of Moran's fumble, they scored two runs, but it took a double by McCarthy, a single by Kling, and another error to do it.

Another pass by Brown, followed by Tenney's double, made Boston's total seven in the last round, then the Colts began a finish which looked good. Slagle led off with a single, and Barry drove a double out of Delehanty's reach. Chance flied, and McCarthy grounded out, scoring Slagle. Kling then beat out a slap between short and third, for which "Batty" made a great try and lost out. That scored Barry. Evers trundled a hit through to center, and Jones, batting in place of Carney, secured a pass, which filled the circuit. A single was all that was needed to tie the game and a double to win, but Tinker had failed to master the parabolas Willis was using, and ended the game with his third strikeout. Score:

Notes of the Colts' Game.

Goodby, Boston, for this year.

New York will have to play two games in Pittsburg today, if the weather permits, travel all night, and play two games here tomorrow.

Charley Dexter, manager of the Louisville American association team, and several of his players were at the game enjoying an open date in their schedule.

The Colts will have a day's rest to prepare for the New York series, which opens with a bargain day double header tomorrow at 2 p. m. This is made necessary by a tie game left over from the first series.

Carney, the new outfielder, did not impress the fans greatly with the strength of the Pacific league, if he was among its leading batters, on the form he showed yesterday. He fanned out three times and worked a free passage once, but his poor showing may have been wholly due to nervousness.

A queer play came up in the fourth. With one out and Evers at first Carney swung at a wild pitch. He missed it and so did the catcher, but it was his third strike, so he ran down to second base while Evers sprinted to third. Capt. Tenney called Zimmer's attention to the fact the rules say a third strike is out whether the catcher holds it or not, provided first base is occupied and less than two out. The umpire saw the point and correctly called Carney out, leaving Evers on third of course. By this paradoxical rule Willis got credit for a strike out on a wild pitch which advanced a runner two bases, and Marshall got a putout for a ball he did not even touch.

New Player for the Reds.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—N. B. Rickey, who has played this season with the Dallas club of the Texas league, has been sold to Cincinnati, and is to have Dallas for Cincinnati tomorrow. Rickey is conceded by all baseball experts who have seen him play to be the best catcher ever seen in the Texas league. He has a wonderful throwing arm. Rickey is a college player, and came to Texas from Lucasville, O., having previously played with the university team at Delaware in that state.

BETTING BEGINS ON BIG FIGHT.

Jeffries Is Opened a 1 to 4 Favorite, but Money Is Shy on the Munroe End.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Betting has commenced on the big championship mill next Friday night. As yet no large wagers have been reported, but enough speculating has been done to get a line on the odds. Harry Corbett, who always handles considerable money on fistic events, opened Jeffries a 1 to 4 favorite today, which was about the odds looked for.

Munroe is not well enough thought of by gamblers to expect him to be heavily backed. The miner is a comparatively untried man, and the betting people like to be shown before they lend their support to fighters. There will be quite a play on rounds. Already Harry Corbett has money to place at even that the champion wins in ten rounds. This was the betting when Jeffries fought Corbett the last time and the latter's friends nearly won, as the ex-champion was not put away until the tenth round.

Both men worked hard at their training quarters today. Jeff is in magnificent form and is as lively on his feet as when he fought Corbett. Munroe is improving, but he is still slow compared to the champion.

WHITE SOX DROP TO THIRD PLACE.

New York Wins Hard Fought Game from Chicago by Score of 4 to 3.

SMITH BRINGS ON DEFEAT

Boston Captures Double Victory from St. Louis and Passes Comiskey's Men.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—"Big John" Powell finally overcame his hoodoo, and won his first game of the season from the White Stockings today. He had a desperate undertaking on his hands, however, and at the end of the ninth inning the score stood 4 to 3 in his favor. Powell was directly responsible for two of the visitors' runs, giving them a momentary lead, then turned the tables and was the contributor of New York's winning run at the fag end of the ninth inning.

New York's start of two runs on four hits in the opening session made it look like a cakewalk for the Highlanders. But Comiskey's team is no such easy picking, and the 5,000 fans who were on hand saw a battle for blood between these two teams, which have been running neck and neck in the race for the lead for over a month.

First one side and then the other was ahead, then they tied up the score, and at the last moment, after Powell had reached third on a cracking triple, Pat Dougherty's sprinting to first won the game, and the crowd went home more than satisfied.

Finish Much Like Tabasco.

The fight for that winning run was a beauty and brought the spectators to their feet more than once. The score was tied 3 all in the eighth. The White Sox went out in order in their half of the ninth, and Smith threw out both Conroy and Kleinow in short order in the Highlanders' last half.

It looked good for extra innings, when Powell picked out one just to his liking, lammed it straight to the fence between center and right, and pulled up his weighty bulk safe on third base. Could Dougherty bring him in or would it require extra innings? That question was on every face as the spectators nervously waited. Pat fouled off several, then rolled a slow one toward second just out of Smith's reach.

Dundon came tearing in for it. Donohue hesitated a moment, then made a dive for the ball, too, while Smith raced to the bag, which he reached just as Dougherty came pounding down like a locomotive. "Jiggs" snapped the sphere to Smith, but Dougherty beat it by an eyelash, and "Red John" crossed the plate. The game was won, and in an instant the crowd swarmed over the field of battle bearing the conquering pitcher away on its shoulders.

Smith Wild at Start.

Smith practically lost his own game in the first inning by his wildness, while he did not give a pass in that round, he had McFarland jumping in all directions stopping his wild shoots, and had to slow up to get the ball over the plate. This enabled the Highlanders to make four hits and a pair of runs.

After that Smith quieted down and held his opponents better, although still a bit wild. He gave a pass in the second, Davis threw wild in the third, Callahan muffed an easy fly in the fourth, and Smith hit a man in the fifth. Still no more base hits and no more runs. In the sixth Ganzel tore off a double, but the next two were out, and in the seventh there was nothing doing.

In the meantime the White Sox did nothing with Powell until the fourth. After Holmes and Jones had been retired Callahan received transportation to first and Davis sent him over with the first run for the visitors by a beautiful triple to left center. George was left on third. Donohue gave the Sox a chance in the fifth by uncorking a three bagger as an opener, but Dundon's fly to Keeler was too short and when Donohue tried to score on McFarland's fly to left he was nipped at the plate by Dougherty's great throw.

Sox Lead for a Minute.

Powell handed the enemy a couple of runs in the eighth and gave them a temporary lead. Dundon beat out a slow hit, and McFarland rolled a grounder along the base line. Powell hit him in the neck in throwing to first, and the ball rolled far out to right field. Before Keeler could get it Dundon crossed the plate and McFarland was on third. Smith whaled out a two bagger which scored McFarland. That was the last for the White Sox. New York quickly tied the score in its half when Williams bumped the first ball pitched for two bases, took third on Anderson's sacrifice, and scored on Elberfeld's out at first. Then came the fireworks of the ninth and victory for New York, giving it sole possession of first place. Score:

Notes of the White Sox Game.

Isbell has a sore eye, and Donohue played first base.

Fultz's legs are bothering him again, so Anderson went to center for New York.

Chicago will wind up the season's series here tomorrow. Boston will be tackled next for four games.

Chesbro will be on the firing line again tomorrow for Griffith's team. White may work for the White Sox.

By winning two games Boston steps ahead of the White Sox, who drop to third place through their defeat today.

COREY RUNS NINETEEN MILES.

C. A. A. Entry for the Marathon Race at St. Louis Makes the Distance in Good Time.

Corey, the C. A. A. entry for the Marathon race, was yesterday given a sample of the work he is to get at St. Louis next week. He did not run the complete Marathon distance, twenty-five miles, but went nineteen miles and a quarter. He accomplished this feat in 2 hours and 25 minutes, which is near the record. Thirty-two minutes remained for him to complete the full distance within the world's record.

Good form in the sprints was displayed by William Hogenson, who won a sixty meter contest over Blair and Groman. He tied the world's record of seven seconds. Trainer Butler believes that in the young sprinter, who was easily the champion among the high school lads the last season, he has a man who will annex the sprints from Archie Hahn.

Hahn is training carefully at Milwaukee, and is said to be in the best form of the season. Hogenson is now working under the direction of Fred Stone, one of the first professionals to do better than even time.

Sullivan to Fight Barry.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Tonight's train for Los Angeles had as passengers "Twin" Sullivan, who is to fight Jack Barry at Los Angeles. While nothing better than 2 to 1 is to be had locally by Sullivan men, these odds seem far from right. Sullivan, of course, is a better ring general than Barry and possessed of more science, but he has never shown much ability to take punishment. It is a question whether he has a wallop hard enough to put the Irishman away.

CUP TO EVANSTON TEAM.

WINNER OF HIGGINS TROPHY AT GLEN VIEW YESTERDAY.

Event Is Preliminary to the Western Women's Championship Contest and Is Marred by the Disqualification and Protest of the Midlothian Quartet Under a Technicality in Conditions—H. C. Egan Captures One Club Event for Men with Score of 46.

Led by Mrs. A. T. H. Brower with a score of 4 down, the Evanston team yesterday captured the Crafts W. Higgins trophy, emblematic of the team championship of the Women's Western Golf association, and won the four silver medals given by the association. The other three players were Miss Margaret Morris, Miss Miriam Anthony, and Miss J. Slaughter, their total score being 28 down. Hinsdale, the champion team of the west group, was second with 50 down, while Midlothian, champion of the south group, which finished 43 down, was disqualified for using two players considered ineligible to compete by the executive committee of the W. W. G. A.

True to her promise, Miss Ina Taft, captain of the Midlothian club, appeared yesterday with the four players she considered best fitted to represent the club despite the fact that two of them, Mrs. W. L. De Wolf and Mrs. C. L. Dering, had not qualified in accordance with a ruling made by the executive committee of the W. W. G. A. on Aug. 15. The Midlothian captain claimed the rule in question—that the leading players in the group championships alone should be eligible to play—was unfair at such a late hour and reserved the right to name her four players irrespective of their standing in the preliminary contests. Midlothian was consequently disqualified, but went into the competition and will protest the ruling of the executive committee.

When play began the course was still soft in many spots from the rain of the previous night and the putting greens were slow. Bogey for the course was placed as follows:

Out	6	5	5	6	5	5	8	4	7	4—50
In	6	5	5	8	4	7	6	4	6	—51—101

The best records made were by Mrs. Brower and Miss Mary Gardner of Hinsdale, both of whom finished 4 down. Results were as follows:

Evanston—Miss Morris, 7 down; Mrs. A. T. H. Brower, 4 down; Miss M. Anthony, 7 down; Miss J. Slaughter, 10 down. Total, 28 down.

Hinsdale—Miss Mary Gardner, 4 down; Miss Sara Gardner, 10 down; Mrs. H. R. Thayer, 18 down; Mrs. W. Barton, 18 down. Total, 50 down.

Midlothian—Mrs. C. L. Dering, 6 down; Mrs. W. L. De Wolf, 15 down; Miss Julia Hunt, 14 down; Miss Myra Helmer, 8 down. Total, 43 down.

H. Chandler Egan, using a driving mashie, won the one club event for men who scored in the morning. His score was 6, 5, 5, 4, 5, 7, 4, 7, 3—46. Other scores were N. Bokum [midiron], 47; O. H. Hunter [midiron], 47; C. E. Smoot [midiron], 49; R. D. Bokum Jr. [driving mashie], 49; L. Hebberd [midiron], 51; L. Adams [putting cleek], 53; W. E. Egan [aluminium cleek], 55; R. A. Mead [midiron], 55.

Fifty-five players are entered for the women's championship, the qualifying round of which will start on the arrival of the 9:30 train from Chicago, as the 8:05 train has been taken off. Sixteen players will qualify for the championship and two flights of eight each for the Glen View and solace cups. A prize will be given for low score. In the afternoon there will be a handicap match against bogey for men scoring in the morning.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul fast train leaving Chicago at 9 o'clock will stop at Golf station this morning, but not on other days during the week.

COMET II. CAPTURES FIRST RACE

Pabst Boat Defeats Alpha by Five Seconds in the Inland Lake Regatta at Oshkosh.

Oshkosh, Wis., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—One of the most heartbreaking finishes ever seen on Lake Winnebago characterized the first heat of the inland lake regatta sailed today. Comet II. of Pewaukee won the race by a margin of five seconds, Alpha, the White Bear light air prodigy, passing Comet immediately after crossing the line.

The wind was a good whole sail breeze and Comet took the lead. The first leg was a spinnaker run. The second, because of the hauling of the wind to the westward, was a reach, and the last leg a dead beat. At the finish mark the first time around Comet lead Alpha by three minutes and fifteen seconds. At the second buoy on the last turn Comet's lead was five seconds. On the last leg the race became nearly a drifting match. Alpha stood across the mouth of the Fox and got what air there was. As the two boats approached the finish stake from opposite directions a neck and neck finish was apparent. Summary:

In a good sailing breeze this morning Wanderer of White Bear repeated its performance of Saturday and led the fleet of eight boats twice around the triangular course. Picket, the Oconomowoc boat, was withdrawn just before the close of the first round, having committed a technical foul of Kewaydin by attempting to cross its bows.

The boats started at 10 o'clock. Summary:

New Yacht for Chicago.

The Chicago yacht fleet will soon receive a notable addition in the big steam yacht Buccaneer, which has been purchased at New York by J. Rosenbaum. The boat is now on its way here and is expected to reach port within a week. Buccaneer was formerly the property of L. G. Fisher of Chicago. Buccaneer was built in 1888, is 140 feet over all, 20 feet beam, and has triple expansion engines, which give a speed of fifteen miles an hour. The hull is of steel. Justice Bradwell is to engage in yacht building, having purchased yesterday a half interest in Cuthbert's island shipyard, in the Calumet river.

Fast Time Made in Opening Events of Automobile Meeting at Cleveland—Miles in :54 and :52 4-5.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 22.—Six thousand spectators saw the first day's races of the American Automobile association at Glenville track today. Earl Kiser broke two world's records, one in the five mile race, when he made the last mile in :54 flat, and the other when he broke the record in a three-eight cylinder machine race by making the last mile in :52 4-5. Barney Oldfield, who was entered for the races on the original dates, last Friday and Saturday, was unable to compete because of a conflicting engagement.

LARNED WINS FROM WRIGHT.

Takes Match Easily at Newport in National Tennis Championship—Semi-Finals Today.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 22.—Today's matches in the national tennis tournament were quickly finished, all in straight sets, and as a result William A. Larned will meet William J. Clothier and Holcombe Ward will play E. W. Leonard in the semi-finals tomorrow.

Wright proved disappointingly weak, taking only four games in his match today against Larned. Larned took the first set with great ease, 6—1. Larned ran out the second set at love. Wright was fatally weak on his serve and did not play any of his strokes well. Larned's play was almost perfection. Larned took the next set and made it straight sets, though Wright made a good stand for two games with the score 5—1 against him.

Ward won from Alexander in straight sets. Alexander played a fast, driving game and covered his court well. Summary:

Fifth round—W. A. Larned beat B. G. Wright, 6—1, 6—0, 6—3.
H. Ward beat F. B. Alexander, 6—3, 9—7, 7—5.
W. J. Clothier beat A. E. Bell, 6—3, 7—5, 6—3.
E. W. Leonard beat N. W. Niles, 6—0, 6—1, 6—1.

TEST STAKE TO FLAXMAN.

DURNELL'S COLT WINS IN CLOSE FINISH AT HAWTHORNE.

Race Is Undecided Until Horses Reach the Wire, Where Winner Gains the Verdict by a Neck Over No Trumper, Which Is Only a Neck in Front of Ram's Horn—Milton Henry Signs Contract with Corrigan and Rides Two Victories.

The Test stakes, a five and one-half furlong dash for 2 year olds, Hawthorne's feature event yesterday, was won by C. E. Durnell's colt, Flaxman, after a hard drive through the stretch with No Trumper, which finished second, and Ram's Horn, which ran third. The winner and Ram's Horn were equal favorites, but as Durnell's colt had a pull of two pounds on Ram's Horn he received the bulk of the play.

It was any one's race at all stages and it furnished by far the best finish of the day as the trio crossed the line necks apart, while Florentine, the other starter, was beaten about five lengths. No Trumper set the early pace, then gave way to Ram's Horn, which in turn was outrun by Flaxman. Turning for home the last named was about two lengths to the good of Ram's Horn, with No Trumper in last place. There was a general closing up below the sixteenth pole, and with the boys riding for all tht was in them they made it necks apart on the end.

Milton Henry accepted a first call verbal contract from Ed Corrigan and made good by riding Corrigan's entries, Orfeo and Sweetie, to victory. In the first race he piloted Orfeo, holding him in third place for a half mile, then sent him along, winning off by himself. He did not get away any too well with Sweetie, but used good judgment in rating her to the straight, where he set her down, secured the better going in the center of the track, and won by over two lengths.

Weird made it three straight when he won the steeplechase. The old gelding was asked to pack 152 pounds and won easily. The weight sent him to the post at better than 6 to 1, while Handvice, which finished second, was backed from 4 to 1 down to 13 to 5. King Galong, the lightweight of the field, led during the first half of the journey, followed by Weird, which took the lead the second time around, after which nothing got near enough to him to force him out. Handvice made up a lot of ground and came fast on the end. Evander finished third.

Jere Dunn, well known in Chicago sporting circles, was at the track and says he will remain here several weeks. Jere owned the fast mare Sunny Slope, and among yesterday's arrivals from the east were Sunny Shore, a 4 year old, and Ethel Barrymore, a 2 year old, both out of Sunny Slope. The horses are owned by P. B. Kelly, but the fact they are out of Dunn's old mare may have something to do with Jere's coming.

STRAIGHT HEATS AT READVILLE.

LISONJERO IS SECOND.

Former Chicago Owned Horse Puts Up All the Fight in Feature Race.

[BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Although the grand circuit races at Readville today were decided in straight heats, there were some interesting finishes, as, in every case, the field was a good one and the two in three system made every horse try for each heat.

Alexander of Geers' string showed himself to have more class than he has generally been credited with. In the $5,000 Blue Hill stake, the entries to which closed several months ago, he stepped three heats which averaged better than 2:10 and at no time was he brought to anything that looked like a drive. The former Chicago trotter, Lisonjero, put up what fight there was made against Alexander, finishing a fair second in the first two heats, and making all the pace in the final mile until he broke at the short distance, thereby allowing John Caldwell to come second.

There was some tall betting on the 2:06 pace, the race bringing out the best field of pacers for its size seen this year. On the strength of what Pan Michael had done in making Gallagher beat 2:05 at Empire, he was made a favorite today at a little less than even money against the field, but as matters turned out he was not dangerous. By getting away well when the word was given Pan Michael was able to make a good fight in the opening mile. Al Thomas, the western driver who recently took charge of Nathan Straus, had that horse in great shape today and before the first turn was reached he had locked horns with Pan Michael and made the fight with him all the way, although never an inch ahead of the stallion until the last few strides.

After the pair had gone three-quarters of a mile with the others strung out in the rear, George Spear made his drive with John M. and, half-way down the homestretch, was alongside the others. From the short distance to the wire the race was one of the best ever seen, the three horses finishing heads on with John M. a few inches to the good in the final stride, while Pan Michael was just nosed out for the place in 2:05¼.

It was thought that as John M. had been given a hard drive all through the last quarter of this mile, he might not come back again, but in the next mile the Indiana bred horse held the pole all the way and finished in 2:05. It was an evenly rated mile and Nathan Straus was second all the way, with some left at the finish. The Chicago horse, Allerson, started in this race and was last all the way in the final mile.

Considerable interest was taken in the 2:20 trot, for the reason that some fair green trotters which were not "staked" this year, were to start. Scott Hudson won it handily with Bonnie Russell, and the others did not look to be of much account.

During the afternoon it was announced that at the meeting to be run here next month by the New England Breeders' association the entrance fee to all races would be lowered to 2½ per cent, which is half the current rate in harness races. In order not to be too generous, however, the thrifty management announced that, in view of the reduced entrance fee, all owners and drivers of the entered horses would be charged full rates at the gate each day, only the "swipes" being admitted free. The new idea was talked over by horsemen and the general opinion is that it is too picayunish to work well. Summaries:

DE RESZKE WINS STAKE EVENT.

Hayman's Horse Captures the Amsterdam at Saratoga in Close Finish with Bobadil.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The Amsterdam, today's stake event, was won by M. L. Hayman's De Reszke in a close finish with John A. Drake's Bobadil. The field raced well bunched to the stretch, De Reszke practically leading all the way. Ishlana led the entire distance in the first race, for 3 year olds, and she won handily by three lengths.

In the steeplechase Royelle did not begin to run until the distance was more than half gone, but he was pounds the best at the finish. Daylesford fell in taking one of the hurdles, but recovered his feet and finished. Bernhardt, who rode Libretto, lodged a protest because of foul, but it was not allowed.

A foul was allowed against Princess Eris for bumping. It was lodged by Odom, who rode Rai[illegible]ment in the fifth. She was disqualified, and third money was awarded to Linda Lee, which finished fourth.

The sixth race was run in a blinding hail and rain storm, and the horses were invisible except in the stretch. Summaries:

Practical Peppers—

[BY REQUEST.]

Cut green peppers in two lengthwise, lay in cold water fifteen minutes; dry and fill each half with a forcemeat made of one cup fine bread crumbs, one-half cup minced boiled ham or tongue, season with a suspicion of onion juice, salt, and pepper, and moisten with melted butter. Lay the stuffed peppers in a dripping pan, pour one cup plain gravy or soup stock around them, cover, and bake fifteen minutes. Uncover and brown. Chopped cook sausage is good to use in place of the ham, or any cold meat. With the latter the seasoning must be more generous than with the sausage. Select peppers that have not begun to change color, extract the seeds carefully, and avoid touching them with the fingers, particularly if your skin is tender.

PEPPERS FRIED.—Slice crosswise and after removing the seeds, lay in cold water fifteen or twenty minutes; dry, sprinkle with salt, dip in flour, and fry; or, rather, sauté, in good hot dripping or olive oil five or six minutes. They should be soft and browned slightly when done. Serve as an accompaniment to steaks, chops, hash, or cold meat. Or, you can fry them in butter, and, in serving, lay them in rings on top of a dish of boiled rice. Pour over the butter in which they were fried and set in the oven, uncovered, for three or four minutes. Serve.

PEPPERS WITH RICE AND TOMATO.—Prepare the peppers for stuffing and fill them with cooked rice which has been mixed with a cup of good tomato sauce. Put them in a vegetable dish and let them stand, covered, in the oven until they are hot through.

A Useful Little Article—

Is a letter case whose foundation is a cardboard box whose lids shut over it completely like a case extending to the bottom and large enough to contain two packages of envelopes of ordinary size. Fit a piece of cardboard inside to divide the space, then cover the lid of the box with linen, painting or embroidering in outline stitch on one side of the top letters answered, on the other side letters unanswered. Between the spaces occupied by the lettering any appropriate device may be painted; or if the decoration is done with the needle, tiny flowers can be scattered over the top among the letters, or the words placed in a slanting direction in the lower right hand corner and upper left hand corner of the box cover, with the initials of the owner worked across between them.

The Attractive Shoe—

The handsome stocking, the well fitting glove, the becoming veil, the correct tie, the dainty neckwear draw the attention of the average observer far sooner than do the elegance of the material of a gown and the style in which it is made.

If a costume fits well it depends on the wearer to make it stylish, while with neckwear galore of vast variety and beauty a toilet may be made as elaborate or as severe as the owner desires.

A supply of veils, carefully chosen with an eye to the becomingness and suitability of each, is a telling accessory of dress.

As soon as a handsome veil is taken off the hat it must be smoothly folded and laid away in a veil case if it is to be made to last long.

Gloves should be treated as fairly, and will reward the care given them by the length of time they will allow themselves to be worn.

With low shoes or pretty slippers handsome silk or lisle thread stockings are nice. Bronze brown silk stockings with bronze slippers are soft and dainty for the house.

Several pair of silk stockings will do vast services if the owner be content to wash them herself as needed in the privacy of her own apartment.

SHERIDAN ROAD MAY BENEFIT FROM VOLNEY FOSTER'S WILL

Contingent Provision Is Made for Fund to Be Used in Improving Thoroughfare Which Interested Testator.

The will of Volney W. Foster was filed yesterday in the Probate court unaccompanied by a petition. It disposes of an estate valued at more than $600,000. After providing for his relatives the testator made contingent provision for the creation of a fund to be used in the improvement of Sheridan road, in which Mr. Foster was much interested. It is intended to be perpetual and is placed at the disposal of the executors, Charles G. Dawes, H. H. C. Miller and Albert Volney Foster. It is recommended that William C. Boyden be appointed counsel.

To the testator's mother-in-law, Ella F. Hill, and his sister, Mrs. Phoebe Foster Fellow, is left the income from funds of $50,000 each. An uncle of Mr. Foster, W. Torrey, Jefferson, Wis., benefits from a fund of $10,000. At their deaths the money will be divided among the other heirs.

The remainder of the estate is to be divided into two funds of equal value to be held in trust for the testator's children, Albert Volney Foster and Mrs. Eva Foster Righter. Nip Chong, a Chinese servant of the family, is left $5,000.

Mr. Foster provided that his burial should be of marked simplicity. A request for cremation and the avoidance of eulogy was marked out of the instrument because the provision was unusual.

The will of Dennis Kavanagh also was filed. It disposes of an estate valued at [illegible]. The immediate relatives are made the beneficiaries. As the testator married after making the will and has had a child by his second wife the validity of the instrument is affected.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

LAST WEEK OF LYON & HEALY'S GREAT MIDSUMMER
CLEARING SALE.
A remarkable opportunity to secure either a new or slightly used upright.

An exceedingly dull season leaves us with a great surplus of pianos of all grades. Price reductions in many lines will rule during the coming week. Whether you desire a low priced piano or a high grade instrument we are prepared to offer you very special value. A visit of inspection cordially invited.

Also a big bargain room [second floor] full of

USED UPRIGHTS.

So many that it is difficult to tell where to begin to enumerate them. A glance shows the following: Three large Knabe uprights; Wheelock upright, $200; Stuyvesant upright, $125; Huntington upright, $165; five fine Steinway uprights, various prices; Krakauer upright, $280; Russell upright, $150; beautiful Weber upright, $300; Sterling upright, $235; Krakauer upright, $285; Hazelton upright, $225; Fischer upright, $225; three Steinway Baby Grands and two Knabe Baby Grands at remarkably low figures; and many others.

Bear in mind that these figures include overhauling in our own repair shops by workmen of the very highest skill. THIS IS IMPORTANT. The hours spent by a first class workman on a piano of this class may mean all the difference between satisfaction and dissatisfaction. Besides, this does away with the danger of hidden defects. Furthermore, many of the above pianos would readily pass for new.

GOOD PARLOR ORGANS VERY LOW. Choice of 20 different styles from $35 up. Second hand organs from $10 up.

Our regular stock embraces over 600 pianos, including Steinway, Weber, Krakauer, Wheelock, Sterling, Huntington, Stuyvesant, and other great makes. All these different pianos are distinguished by some special feature. The workmanship in each is of a superior character, and every one is of a design approved by the highest standards of public taste.

Exchange certificates, permitting exchange toward any new piano of higher grade, given free with all inexpensive instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS—Pianos may be secured from us on very easy terms. No advance in price when paid for by installments.

Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list, and also our schedule of freight rates. We ship pianos everywhere.

LYON & HEALY, Wabash-av. and Adams-st.

The business of Lyon & Healy largely exceeds in volume and value that of any other musical establishment in either Europe or America.

We close Saturdays at 1 p. m.

WHEAT HOLDERS TAKE PROFITS.

Lull in Crop Damage Reports from Poor Wire Service Robs Market of Support.

REACTION IN PRICES.

Volume of Trade Much Smaller than Last Week—Rains Over Corn Belt Affect Values.

Less excitement over crop prospects, decidedly smaller business and in consequence lower prices characterized the wheat market. The storm in the northwest interfered with the telegraph service, which was hardly in good enough condition to transmit buying and selling orders for northwestern grain operators.

The crop experts who are keeping the trade posted on the progress of rust development in the Dakotas, Minnesota, and in Manitoba were not able to send their usual daily grist of calamity reports, and with the lack of this fuel to keep the fire burning it died down a little. The highest prices of the crop were made at the opening on a rush of buying orders, based on bullish enthusiasms left over from the strong close of Saturday on cooler temperatures in the northwest which suggested the possibility of frost and fear of damage by the northwestern storm. But there was a good deal of important selling for northwestern and local holders, which forced a sharp decline. There was no such volume of buying orders on this reaction, as was developed on every little decline last week, and the break finally went far enough to catch stop loss selling orders. The opening prices had shown gains of about 1⅜c from Saturday's close. There were losses from this bulge of 3⅜c to 4⅜c, but in the last hour there was the reaction of about 1½c from the bottom figures on a little investment buying and on covering by pit shorts who had sold too enthusiastically on the break.

Closing prices showed net losses of ⅝c to 2⅛c. The new September held the best, selling from $1.12 to $1.08¼, and closing at $1.09⅞. The December sold from $1.14 to $1.09¾, and closed at $1.11, a loss of 1⅝c. The May had the widest range, $1.17 to $1.12¼, closing at $1.13⅝. The northwestern markets were relatively weaker than this, although the wire service was so poor quotations from Minneapolis and Duluth were infrequent.

Damage Reports Fewer.

There were some bad crop reports, but they were much fewer in volume, and the trade was influenced by advices from Minneapolis of fair arrivals of new spring wheat there, half of it grading No. 1 nothern. There were decided contradictions also of the most pessimistic reports of last week on the Manitoba crop, several conservative authorities declaring that while there was rust the prospect was for fully as large a yield as that of last year. Northwestern receipts were small, 215 cars, compared with 456 a year ago, because last year the new wheat had begun to move freely, but southwestern receipts were more than large enough to make up. Kansas City had 667,000 bu, against 248,000 bu last year, and total primary receipts were 1,329,000 bu, compared with 925,000 bu a year ago. Kansas City advices again told of a probable falling of in the movement.

The closing rally was helped by the visible supply showing a decrease of 235,000 bu, in spite of the large primary receipts and small export movement last week, compared with an increase of 172,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 151,000 by wheat and flour. The local cash market was steady compared with the futures, but off grades still dragging. Kansas City cash prices were steady to 1c lower. St. Louis reported a good milling demand, with No. 2 selling at $1.14.

World's shipments were 8,376,000 bu, compared with 9,392,000 bu a year ago. The amount on ocean passage increased 256,000 bu to 40,392,000 bu. Liverpool futures were ¼d to ⅝d higher. London up 1¼d to 1½d, Antwerp up 1¼c, Buda-Pesth up 4c since Friday, and Paris ¼c to ⅜c lower. The northwest sold ealy through Daggett, Wrenn, Milmine-Bodman, Shearson-Hamill, and others, and there was selling of May early by brokers supposed to be for Armour, with rather open selling by that interest as the market weakened. There was free selling of May by Bartlett-Frazier, supposed to be for Patten. Armour brokers bought September, causing the relative firmness of the near by delivery.

Corn Sold for Export.

Corn opened stronger in spite of the general rains over Sunday in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Missouri, from which states came complaints of drought. The strength was in sympathy with the early bulge in wheat and on fears of frost suggested by the lower temperatures. One point in Nebraska reported light frost. But the forecast was for warmer weather and the December and May, which had gained ½c early, closed with net losses of ¼c and ⅝c respectively. The September gained ⅛c on buying by cash houses and a renewal of the recent export demand with sales of 90,000 bu direct to the united kingdom.

The inspection sheet showed the effect of the heavy sales by the country a fortnight ago, 441 cars in, or much over the estimate, and 467 estimated for today. Primary receipts were 378,000 bu, compared with 527,000 bu a year ago. Shipments were nearly double the receipts at 694,000 bu, most of it from Chicago. The cash market was steady to ½c higher. There was a decrease of 284,000 bu in local stocks in store and 454,000 bu in the visible supply. Liverpool futures were ⅜d higher, spot up ½d. World's shipments were heavy 4,962,000 bu, compared with 2,916,000 bu the previous week, and 4,296,000 bu a year ago.

Oats Lose Early Gains.

Oats were moderately stronger earlier, up ¼c to ⅜c, for no better reason, apparently, than the strength in corn and wheat, and their advance was held no better than was that in the other grains, general liquidation forcing declines of ¼c in the September, ⅜c in the December and the May. The increase of 1,741,000 bu in the visible supply was a bearish factor. Receipts keep heavy, 414 cars inspected in and 529 estimated for today, while cash prices were steady to ⅜c lower. The shipping demand was small, sales of 20,000 bu reported. Messages from Ohio dealers said the eastern demand for Ohio and Indiana oats, which had been selling at a cheaper basis than Chicago prices, had disappeared. Clearances were 15,000 bu.

Easy Tone in Provisions.

Provisions were dull, and trade was without particular significance. The market was easy practically all of the session, but pork made modest gains early on scattered buying by grain houses, closing, however, off with other products. Final losses were 12½@15c in pork, 2½@5c in lard, and 7½@10c in ribs. The September deliveries were weakest on scattered liquidation by holders and changing over into the deferred months. The market had no support, and the big interests did little except changing. Local hog receipts were 39,000, and 22,000 are expected today. Prices at the yards were 5@10c higher. Western points received 64,000 head, against 48,500 last year. Liverpool lard was 3d up and bacon 1s up. Cash demand for lard was good, and for meats fair.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

What has become of the big primary receipts of wheat is still a question disturbing some of the trade. In spite of much larger primary receipts than a year ago, and much smaller exports for the preceding week the visible supply statement yesterday showed a comparative loss of 407,000 bu, a decrease of 235,000 bu, compared with an increase of 172,000 bu a year ago. Primary receipts were 1,684,000 bu larger, and exports 1,670,000 bu smaller. In other words, 3,700,000 bu have disappeared, unless millers have taken all of it. There is still a strong suspicion, however, among a good many traders here that stocks are accumulating in private houses, and that there will be some liberal additions to the contract stock for September delivery at some time. There is still a strong belief that the reports of stocks in private elevators are not accurate, and that there are at least 6,000,000 bu wheat in public and private houses here. People who have had the occasion and the opportunity to visit the elevators in South Chicago, however, say there are no signs there of activity in the cleaning and mixing of wheat, the usual preliminaries to an enlargement of the contract stock. Elevator interests also are buying the September in the pit, apparently against sales of December and May, and there were also evidences yesterday of a desire to sell the old September and buy the new at about 1⅜c difference. Transactions of this kind do not square well with the theory that the elevator interests are getting ready to deliver a lot of No. 2 hard winter wheat on September contracts. For the last four weeks receipts of wheat in Chicago have been 3,947,000 bu, and shipments 1,876,000 bu, a difference of 2,071,000 bu, while in that time stocks of wheat in the public houses have decreased about 200,000 bu, and stocks in private houses, as reported to Bradstreet's have increased about 800,000 bu. Nobody knows what has become of the rest of the wheat received here, and there is a suspicion that more has come in than has been reported in the daily receipts, though it may be unwarranted. However, the railroads have on one or two occasions reported considerably larger receipts than have shown on the inspection sheet, and this discrepancy between the estimates and postings has been explained by saying part of the receipts were not subject to inspection.

There was heavy profit taking in the wheat pit. Some of the most enthusiastic bulls and those who have been sending a lot of bull news were credited with securing handsome winnings, although it was not likely anyone was picking millions out of a market of the shrunken proportions of yesterday, as some claimed. J. A. Patten, J. Watson of Minneapolis and C. H. Spencer all were thought to be selling May, bought when the market was considerably lower. The demand, however, was far from reaching the volume noted last week, and although a heavy load of wheat apparently was held over the market, it was seen that it would not take much without a bad slump. Armour, who was selling May freely, was at the same time buying September, and this interest and other elevator concerns seemed to be bent on securing the carrying charge, taking the nearby and selling the deferred deliveries.

A refreshing note was struck by a letter from W. L. Williamson, a loan and insurance agent at Lisbon, N. D., which said: "North Dakota is not rusted out or ruined, but is the banner state for the best grade of wheat in the country, and Ransom county is the banner county. A farmer just in here who has three hundred acres of fine wheat already cut says it will go fifteen bu to the acre, and this is affected by the rust. He says he has four hundred acres not affected at all, from which he expects twenty to twenty-five bu at least. Ransom county's crop, unless something happens from now until it is cut, will be as large or larger than last year's, and 75 per cent of the 1904 crop is macaroni wheat."

A crop connoisseur who has been traveling through the northwest and Canada writes A. J. White from Swan Lake, Man., Aug. 20: "The greater portions of the wheat for the seventy-five miles that I have ridden through this afternoon is fine. There were some fields affected by rust, but not enough to cut down the average materially. I rode across the country yesterday, and there are promises of some heavy yields. While there is some rust all over a large section of Manitoba, I do not think it will cut the crop more than 10 per cent on the whole, and without rust or frost the prospects are for a large crop."

It takes a constant supply of fuel to keep up a hot fire and a hot fire to keep up a full head of steam. The blaze in the wheat market died down somewhat because the northwestern storm crippled the wire service and it was not possible for the northwestern bulls and the crop experts in that section to send in such a flood of damage reports as contributed mainly to the sharp advances of last week. With any lull in the crop damage news all but the most enthusiastic bulls are apt to consider the price and its attitude in comparison with recent years, and become anxious to save their profits.

A letter to E. W. Wagner dated August 21, from El Paso, Ill., says of corn: "An all day drizzle Friday was a great benefit to the corn crop, but do not let anyone make you think we are going to have a bumper crop. The two weeks' severe drought did damage that it will be impossible to overcome. I am positive two-thirds of the ears in this part of Illinois are not in the roasting ear state and one-third of them in the water stage, and notice the date. I now think corn is as far behind as last year, and it is going to ripen just as uneven."

A Kansas City message to Shearson-Hammill said: "I think our big receipts are over for this season. Our own advices only one-half what they were last Monday. Large part of estimated receipts for tomorrow are cars which have been on sidetrack for several days." Other messages said advices to receiver indicated a falling off of 50 per cent in country shipments. Some of the big southwestern dealers thought the recent heavy rains in Kansas would affect the wheat movement, but that the falling off would only be temporary.

The Ogilvie Milling Company of Toronto, which has sixty-five agents throughout the Canadian Northwest, issued a statement admitting the presence of more or less rust in wheat, but declaring its reports indicated exaggeration in crop damage claims, and a crop fully as large as that of last year. Another big Canadian concern with an even greater number of agents made similar claims.

Henry L. Goemann wired Lippert from Toledo that there was no longer any shipping demand from the east even for the Ohio and Indiana oats, which had been selling on a cheaper basis than the Chicago level of values. The eastern jobbing demand has been filled up temporarily, and it is supposed the big hay crop in the east has made the shipping demand for oats less urgent.

Geddes wired Hadley from Gainesboro, Canada: "From Winnipeg south to Rosenfeld, thence to Deloraine," distance 150 miles, "wheat crop badly rusted, backward,—won't yield 30 per cent of recent promise. From Deloraine west much better. Cutting well commenced, but stopped by rain."

Snow wired Knight-Donnelley: "Jamestown to Carrington, little wheat has been cut. The fields are green, grain in milk or soft dough; made no progress ripening last ten days. Rust has developed rapidly. The average will not be above 8 or 9 bu; shrunken."

In the local sample market prices of cash wheat followed the September holding relatively steady. The low grades, especially of the hard winter wheat, are still dragging, though holding the comparative gains of Friday and Saturday.

Broomhall cabled his own correspondents in the north of France say the crop there is turning out 10 to 15 per cent below an average, but the quality, however, is good.

Estimated receipts are: wheat, 177 cars; corn, 467 cars; oats, 529 cars; rye, 19 cars; barley, 31 cars; hogs, 22,000 head.

GAIN BY RAPID TRANSIT.

FISCAL YEAR SHOWS INCREASE OF 10 PER CENT IN GROSS.

Earnings on the Stock Are Equal to 2.23 Per Cent—Hay Crop of the United States Ranks Higher in Farm Value than Wheat—Latter and Cotton About the Same—Chicago Houses Do Moderate Business in the Market—United States Glass.

The annual statement of earnings of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company was issued yesterday. While it was not as good as Wall street had expected, still, as compared with the previous year, it was altogether favorable except in the matter of an increase in taxes and fixed charges. Gross for the year gained 10.8 per cent, which is a good gain for any system. The percentage of operating expenses was a little in excess of the previous year, being 59.3 per cent, against 58.9 for 1903. The surplus increased 11 per cent.

Earnings applicable to the stock were 2.23 per cent on $45,000,000 capital. These figures are nothing like what Roswell Flower predicted for the property. The stock was selling higher five years ago than it is now. But apparently the property is in a fair way to improve. The statement of earnings for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, follows:

	Earnings.	Increase.
Gross	$14,738,709	$1,458,388
Operating expenses	8,760,438	829,359
Net	5,978,271	629,029
Surplus	1,005,203	248,866
Previous surplus	1,747,840	756,397
Total surplus	2,753,043	1,005,203
Balance surplus	1,594,191	*153,649

Value of the Crops.

The crop second in value raised in the United States last year was hay. Its value was $556,000,000, against $952,000,000 for corn, $443,000,000 for wheat, and $267,000,000 for oats. Cotton was valued at $453,000,000. Hay not being a product in which there is any trading on exchanges, its value to the country has been generally unknown where exact knowledge was possessed of the value of cereals and cotton.

Chicago and the Market.

Chicago houses did a moderate business in the New York market yesterday. This does not include the particular following of the Gates people, who constitute a group of speculators apart from the ordinary commission house business. This particular following is large enough in itself to influence quotations on either side of prices it happens to be. But as indicating the attitude of the so-called "public" in the market, other commission houses are more representative.

The point was generally distributed that Amalgamated Copper was good for 75, because at the next dividend meeting it was asserted the stock would be placed on a 4 per cent basis. The last quarterly dividend of ½ per cent is payable this month, so that there is considerable time ahead for speculating on the next dividend.

Roosevelt Money in Wall Street.

Sentiment in Wall street as gauged by the making of bets is becoming more favorable to Roosevelt. A local house several weeks ago desired to place in Wall street a bet of $500 even that Parker would carry New York. There was no Roosevelt money to be had. A few days ago, however, the local house was notified that if the bet were raised to $1,000 it would find a taker. This was done and the money placed.

Chicago Stocks.

American Can preferred advanced to 43. The trading in New York was quite large. The Chicago business seemed to be of a scalping nature.

There was a moderate demand throughout the general list, but there was no buying of an unusual character. Diamond Match continued to work a little higher and closed at 135. A short time ago it was selling at 130.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Money was in moderate demand in the market today. Supplies continued abundant, and this is expected to continue for a few days. Discounts were steady. Trading on the stock exchange was inactive and the tone was unsettled, owing to the state of far eastern affairs. Consols opened fairly steady, but eased later on the uncertainty of the situation at Shanghai. Home rails were depressed on the unsettled weather. Americans opened weak, partly recovered on general support, though operators were cautious, and closed in better demand. War bonds were nervous, in view of the situation, and decisive news was anxiously awaited. Japanese were maintained. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 96⅛.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Prices on the bourse today were firm. Russian imperial 4s closed at 92.45 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 503. The private rate of discount was 1⅛.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Trading on the boerse today was quiet and had a waiting tendency.

The following table shows London's closing prices of yesterday and Friday, with their New York equivalents, compared with Friday's New York closings:

Early Irregularity Traceable to Uncertainty of Events in the Far East, but More Favorable London News Improves Conditions — Granger Railways Most Active Properties on the List—United States Steel Acts in a Puzzling Manner.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Reactionary influences were predominant in the stock market today and the volume of business was small.

The irregularity of the market at the outset was largely due to the new turn of events in the far east, but London's purchases at this center turned the tide of uncertainty. Further encouragement came from London in the form of a statement emanating from conservative sources to the effect that our market bears genuine evidence of broadening activity.

An early test of the market today seemed to indicate that the weak holders had been weeded out in last week's declines, and it was soon apparent that a fair sized short interest existed in many of the more active issues. Union Pacific and Southern Pacific were well supported, and what was commonly believed to be a large short interest was driven to cover in St. Paul. The early movement in United States Steel preferred was puzzling, the selling being regarded as good, but Pittsburg and other points where close watch is kept on the steel and iron trade, sent in buying orders. While only moderatly active, the market held its early rally all through the morning session.

A sharp break in wheat gave additional impetus to the market in the afternoon and caused extensive covering of shorts. It is noteworthy that a comparatively small amount of stock came out on the rise, and this together with further heavy buying of Union Pacific and Southern Pacific by so-called insiders produced the strong close.

In addition to the railway issues already mentioned the movement in Reading attracted some attention, a specialist taking round lots of that stock, causing a net gain of 1⅝ points. Other stocks which advanced from 1½ to 1¾ included Atchison, New York Central, Missouri Pacific, and Louisville and Nashville. The transactions were up a point, Amalgamated Copper gained 2, and Smelting, Consolidated Gas, and United States Steel preferred 1 each. The railroad list was up a point or so. Southern Pacific, with its gain of 2 points, was the most active issue.

Close: Money on call easy, ¾@1 per cent; closing bid, 1 per cent, offered at 1. Time loans easy and dull: 60 days, 2 per cent, 90 days, 2½; six months, 3½. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 3¾@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 488.10@488.15 for demand and 485.50@485.60 for 60 day bills. Posted rates, 486 and 489. Commercial bills, 484¾@485⅛. Bar silver, 57⅛c. Mexican dollars, 45½c. Government bonds firm. Railroad bonds steady.

Cattle.

Prime cattle were weak; good to choice grades were 10c lower, fair to good 10@15c lower, and common to fair 15@25c lower. Nearly 8,000 rangers arrived and had to sell 10@15c lower than last week's close. Butcher stock was scarce and steady at the bad close last week. The supply was on the trashy order, good grades being in short supply. Liverpool came higher fractionally and London steady on American cattle. Stockers and feeders were inactive at the recent decline. There was a good demand for choice milkers to go to New York and Pennsylvania at $35.00@45.00. Quotations:

Hogs.

A decline of 10@15c affected all hog values, but packers were good buyers at the decline. The close was the best spot of the day. Tops made $5.50. There was an increasing proportion of "grass widows" and packers showing verdancy. It is expected the opening run of the week will be large. Quotations:

Every Day Brings Forth a New Series of Bargains.

The crowding down of prices never stops. When any line of goods fails to move fast enough we put the knife in still deeper. It is the only way to force a quick and complete clearing.

But we haven't counter room to place all the bargains before you at one time. No store would have. For this clearing embraces the entire business—includes the great quantities of goods, open and in reserve, which are required to equip more than sixty departments with complete assortments.

BIG FLATS TO BE BUILT.

NORTH SIDE APARTMENT HOUSES PLANNED COSTING $1,500,000.

William H. Barry Will Put Up 104 Apartment Buildings in Wilson Avenue District—Contracts for Purchase of 5,000 Feet Frontage for Sites at a Cost of $500,000—Merchants' Loan and Trust Company Is Trustee in $200,000 Loan to McCormick Estate.

William H. Barry, the builder, is now engaged in one of the largest apartment house building projects ever undertaken on the north side. It involves the construction of 104 buildings, at an estimated cost of $1,500,000.

The buildings are to be erected in the Wilson avenue district, near the terminus of the Northwestern Elevated road. To secure sites for them Mr. Barry has contracted with William Deering to purchase from him around 5,000 feet of frontage at an approximate cost of $500,000. The land now acquired embraces a subdivision of 100 lots on both sides of Clifton avenue and the west frontage on Pemberton street from Montrose avenue to Lawrence avenue.

Most of the buildings will be three story and basement structures, fronting 40 to 50 feet, and 70 feet deep. Twenty-four buildings are now in course of construction and the remainder will be finished in three years. The apartments will contain from four to six rooms and rent at from $35 to $40.

Makes a Big Loan.

The Merchants' Loan and Trust company is trustee in a loan of $200,000 to R. Hall McCormick, trustee of the estate of Leander McCormick. The loan runs five years, bearing 4 per cent interest, and is secured by the property at the northwest corner of Randolph street and Wabash avenue, 169x138 feet, with five story and basement brick building. The property comprises the premises 45-61 Wabash avenue and 33-43 Randolph street, and was valued by the board of review last year at $819,935. The loan is a renewal of a former loan of $250,000.

Edwin G. Foreman is trustee in a loan of $20,000 to Charles F. Gunther, due April 29, 1908, and bearing 4½ per cent interest. It is secured by the property at 260 State street, 25x100 feet, and is subject to a prior incumbrance of $50,000, secured by a trust deed to Mr. Foreman.

Trust Deed Executed.

NEWS OF INSURANCE WORLD.

EDITED BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

Eastern News Telegraphed from New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin.

TWO INSURANCE FIRMS UNITE.

Local Agencies Combine Under Name of Holmes, Martin & Co.—Will Handle New Line.

The Chicago agencies of Fisher, Martin & Wurts and Frank F. Holmes & Co. have consolidated under the firm name of Holmes, Martin & Co. The first named firm was originally Fisher Bros., and was organized in 1865. F. P. Fisher, the head of the firm, is one of the underwriting landmarks of La Salle street. He now retires, and C. P. Wurts will enter business for himself as a broker. He has had no interest in the firm for some time. John D. Martin, who has owned almost all the stock of the incorporated firm, will take his solicitors and brokers to the new firm. Frank F. Holmes organized his agency in 1887. The new agency will occupy the present quarters of Holmes & Co., in the National Life building. J. Ed Wetzel, James J. Allen, and Albert Herda, who have been employed by the old firms, will be retained in the new agency.

The American Fidelity company of Montpelier, Vt., is entering Illinois, Holmes, Martin & Co. to be the general agents in Chicago. This company writes liability, personal accident, health, burglary, and surety business. The firm will represent the following fire companies: Glens Falls, National of Allegheny, Transatlantic, German of Peoria, and the German Underwriters.

Advices received yesterday by western departments from St. Paul and Minnesota agents were meager as to the amount of tornado losses in the two cities. The tornado liability is not heavy there and hence companies will not be caught for any great amount. The most severe insurance losses will probably come from town and rural agencies in that locality. The Donaldson building in Minneapolis carried $200,000 tornado insurance, and it is understood the loss on stock will be 15 per cent of the value. The Lindeke, Warner & Schurmeir company of St. Paul allowed $150,000 tornado insurance to expire a few weeks ago. Companies are preparing for a revival in tornado insurance in Minnesota following the recent storm.

Several small claims have been reported since the recent storm at St. Louis. Many of them come from the east side of the Mississippi river.

The University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, which has had a course in the technique of life insurance for two years, has decided to open a course in fire insurance and fire insurance engineering, to be as thorough and technical as the course in life insurance. It will be in charge of Dr. J. W. Glover, assistant professor of mathematics, who established the course in life insurance.

President J. J. Henry of the Newark Fire, who is now in Chicago, will leave today on a Pacific coast trip.

W. E. Nichols, one of the agents of the New York Life in Chicago, is endeavoring to insure the members of the order of Hoo-Hoo in a body. The offer is to turn over 40 per cent of the first year's premiums to the order to be used in the reduction of subsequent premiums, or for the benefit of the order.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—David Rosenthal, 3084 High street, sustained a loss on his stock of wholesale notions, insured as follows:

Niagara	$1,000	Royal	$2,000
Northern	1,000	Atlas	1,000

St. Ignace, Mich., Aug. 22.—The residence of B. Lachance sustained a loss by fire insured as follows:

Connecticut	$2,000	National, Hartford	$2,000
North B. & M.	2,000	Caledonian	2,000
Phœnix, Hartford	1,000	Niagara	1,000

NEWS NOTES FROM NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The report of Treasurer Lindley Murray of the New York board, giving a detailed list of the premiums collected in the fire patrol district for the first six months of 1904, was issued today. The recapitulation shows the following comparison:

	1904.	1903.
Local companies	$3,173,100	$3,361,084
Agency companies	2,943,824	2,725,922
Foreign companies	3,260,400	2,968,645
Totals	$9,377,324	$9,055,651

Gov. Herrick, Attorney General Ellis, and the Insurance Company of Ohio will hear an application for the merging of the Interstate Insurance company and the Columbia Life Insurance company, both of Cincinnati, on Sept. 12. The consent of the officials named must be secured before the consolidation can be made.

H. H. Hoffman was elected president of the Leslie D. Ward association of the Prudential insurance agents of Ohio, recently organized by Fred W. Tasney, manager of the ordinary department of the Prudential. A. E. Wood was made vice president and George F. Whitlock, general agent for Ohio, was chosen secretary.

The report of Francis E. S. Wolf, receiver of the Firemen's Insurance company of Baltimore, which failed on account of its large losses in the February conflagration, has been filed in the Circuit court at Baltimore. It shows that from Feb. 16 until Aug. 15 the receiver received $922,738.37, of which $516,293.01 has been disbursed.

The Peabody company, which was affected by the fire and which also went into the hands of a receiver, already has paid a dividend of 30 per cent. The Old Town company, which is in the hands of receivers, has submitted its report, and it is being audited at the present time. The cash on hand amounts to about $72,000. The other two companies, the Home and the Baltimore Fire Insurance company, which also were affected by the fire, are not ready as yet to issue a statement.

High Rates Save Companies.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Losses at Martinez on Friday were heavy for property owners, for insurance on the two blocks was light, because of high rates. The Ætna, Aachen, and Munich, American of Boston, British American, Colonial, Continental, Dutchers, Fireman's Fund, Girard, German of Freeport, Glens Falls, Hanover, Home F. & M., North American, Milwaukee Mechanics, Northwestern National, Norwich Union, Pacific, Transatlantic, Westchester, Williamsburg City, and other companies were interested in amounts ranging from $500 to $3,500.

Fire Loss at Hastings, Neb.

Hastings, Neb., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The Herpolsheimer Implement company was damaged by fire this morning. The loss to insurance companies will be about 50 per cent on the stock. The building, owned by N. F. Dameron, is a total loss. The companies interested are:

GENERAL NEWS OF RAILWAYS.

Allan Line to Put a Fleet on the Pacific in Connection with Grand Trunk.

Arrangements are being completed between the Grand Trunk Pacific railway and the Allan Steamship company by which the latter will establish a fleet of steamers on the Pacific in conjunction with the Grand Trunk. The compact is said to be similar to the one existing between the Grand Trunk railway and the Allan line with regard to Atlantic business.

Officials of Allan line express the belief that there will be sufficient traffic between Canada and Japan and China to justify the establishment of another fleet.

Traffic officials speak enthusiastically of the improved conditions in traffic. The tonnage on both the eastern and western roads has increased materially during the last two or three weeks.

Grain shipments by the east bound roads from Chicago last week were the largest in two months. Provision shipments are about 25 per cent below last year, which is entirely due to the stockyards' strike. Following is a detailed statement:

	Flour. brls.	Grain. bu.	Provisions. tons.
Last week	60,339	1,470,000	21,657
Week before	59,978	1,398,000	21,373
Last year	57,976	714,000	29,007

The Chicago and Northwestern next year will begin the construction of an extension of its line from Cody, Wyo., its present terminus, to Boise. It is said to be the intention to push from Boise on to the Pacific coast, making the terminus at Eureka Bay, Cal.

James J. Hill is maturing plans for a new transcontinental short line connecting the North Pacific coast on the northwest and Kansas City and St. Louis and eventually the gulf on the southeast.
